Bavarian Fascists Believed
About Ready to Make
Effort to Again Restore Monarchy.

BIG SLUMP IN MARK STARTS WILD PANIC

Reichsbank Unwilling to Dump Thin Supply of Foreign Currency to Stem Adverse Tide.

BY FERDINAND JAHN.
Berlin, May 3.—The government of Chancellor Cuno, unable to make peace with the Franco-Belgians in the Ruhr, is tottering, according to all indications. It is anticipated that Cuno will resign as soon as the French and Belgian governments dispatch him their formal rejection of Germany's thirty billion gold mark reparations offer, which was made Wednesday.

In case Cuno resigns, it is expected that President Ebert will ask him to at least go through the motions of forming a new regime with Dr. Hugo Stressemann as foreign minister in the place of the incumbent, Baron von Rosenberg, and with the inclusion of socialists in a "big coalition."

Temper of Country.
Stressemann has long been an advocate of an "understanding" with the French, but it is questionable whether he will be able to make a more liberal offer than Cuno's, in view of the present temper of the country.

Undoubtedly the socialists will demand that the door be kept open for negotiations, but looming against their demand is the hubbub of the Bavarian fascists, led by Adolf Hitler, who, according to the average German, are ready to spring a coup against the present republican regime in an effort to form a monarchy.

Slump in Mark.
The first outward result of the Franco-Belgian rejection of the German reparations offer was a tremendous slump in the mark. Marks dropped on the bourse Thursday to 40,000 to the American dollar—a decline of 8,000 since Wednesday.

There was a panic on the bourse, where, amidst the deafening cries of the traders, chalkers marked only plus signs on the books. While the dollar soared, all other stocks moved sympathetically, moving in some cases thousands of points. The Reichsbank seemed impotent to halt the slump or unwilling to dump its thin supply of foreign currency into the market in an effort to stem the chaotic trading.

ONLY AMERICAN PAPER IN MEXICO IS RAZED BY FIRE

Tampico, Mexico, May 3.—The offices of The Tribune, the only American newspaper in Mexico, and the building of the Young Men's Christian association were destroyed by fire yesterday. Two persons were killed and ten injured, all Mexicans. The loss probably will reach $300,000.

Capitalists Decide To Decline Visit Proposed by German

London, May 3.—Industrialists in the house of commons have decided not to accept the invitation issued by Herr Reuss, head of the German steel "trust" that they visit Germany and examine into her capacity to pay reparations.

The capitalists decided that inasmuch as Germany's reparations offer has already been presented any investigation now must be of an official character.

London, May 3.—The British government, although of the opinion that the German reparations note provides a suitable basis for discussion, will not interfere in face of the flat rejection of the proposal by the French and Belgian governments.

Officials qualify statements that the note contains sufficient grounds for the opening of negotiations between the allies and Germany by saying: "But we are dealing with realities and not logic."

Thus, in semi-official quarters it is pointed out that Germany and France should get together now to deliver Europe from chaos according to all the rules of logic. But, it is declared, neither Germany nor France conducts herself with a conciliatory spirit. Instead of playing the game of "give and take," officials state, both Germany and France are disposed to play the game of "take."

Foresee U. S. Support.
British officials believe that the United States will support the view that the German offer of 30,000,000,000 gold marks, though stupidly phrased and unnecessarily antagonistic to France, should not be summarily dismissed. But it is useless, authorities declare, for the United States and Britain to take action until France shows a willingness to conciliate.

The decision of the French and Belgian governments to make their own separate replies—when the note was addressed to all the allies—has confused the situation. Some officials here are inclined to be mildly resentful of the attitude of the Franco-Belgian governments. The government is as yet undecided whether to draft a separate reply or await the next move from Germany.

Baldwin Statement.
Stanley Baldwin, the chancellor of the exchequer, who is acting prime minister during the vacation of Premier Bonar Law, stated in the house of commons Thursday that the government had not thoroughly studied the German note and was therefore unprepared to make any comment on it.

In the meantime the belief persists that the situation will eventually evolve into an international conference somewhat similar to the plan suggested by Secretary of State Hughes in his New Haven, Conn., speech.

The labor party, without committing itself to all the details of Germany's reparations offer, also believes that it forms a basis of discussion. Leaders of the party urge that the British government issue a statement along the foregoing lines in an effort to promote a conference of the parties concerned.

BLOWING OF SIRENS COSTS DIRECTORS 250,000,000 MARKS

Essen, May 3.—Two directors of the Heinrich's Mine and Machine works, at Hattungen, have been sentenced by a French court-martial to serve five years in prison and to pay fines amounting to 250,000,000 marks. The directors, whose names are Jaeger and Zoellner, were charged among other things, with having caused the sirens of their plant to sound when occupation troops and officials appeared on the property, thus rallying an assembly of workmen which endangered the lives of the visiting authorities.

World Law Experts Studying Decision On Liquor Question

Rome, May 3.—International law experts of the Italian government have started a study of the decision of the United States supreme court which prohibits vessels of all registries from taking liquor within the American three-mile limit.

Premier Mussolini, it is understood, favors acting jointly with the Anglo-French shippers. Italian shippers state they will respect the law pending a solution of the situation.

Organized under the slogan, "Memphis take care of her own," scores of leading business men of this city today began an intensive campaign to secure the repeal of the liquor law.

WORLD'S CHAMPION WASHER OF DISHES SETS NEW RECORD

Punxsutawney, Pa., May 3.—The marathon dish-washing record of the world was claimed today by Miss Susie Hetlock, of the village of Oconee, near here. Susie, aged 22 years, got a job in the kitchen of the Pantall hotel, several months ago. Some of her friends were discussing marathon washing last Monday and the conversation eventually centered on the subject of cleaning the family plate. A wager was laid and Susie started on her record-making dish-washing expedition.

Using only the old-time methods—a dish cloth, pan, hot water and soap, Miss Hetlock continued her operations for 31 hours without a stop. She won the wager, and the hotel manager rewarded her by ordering a two-day vacation.

FARM BLOC CHIEF SALES FOR EUROPE AS U. S. DELEGATE

Senator Brookhart Promises to Bring Back Solution of "Most of the World's Troubles."

New York, May 3.—Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart, sailing for Europe Wednesday, promised to bring back a solution of most of the world's troubles.

Standing on the deck of the U. S. shipping line steamer President Monroe, dressed in his Iowa pig-farm clothes, the farm bloc senator announced his intention of:

First—Attending various national congresses of European co-operative societies, the internationalization of which he believes will do away with military and industrial warfare.

Second—Scouting around among the countries of Europe so he can decide whether the world court is as fit for American participation as President Harding says it is.

Brookhart said he would act as an American delegate to congresses of co-operative societies in England, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Czechoslovakia.

"I want to get the American co-operatives in direct touch with those of Europe," he said, adding that a proper coordination of producers and consumers throughout the world would make unnecessary a league of nations to regulate politics.

Could Operate at Profit.
The Iowa senator predicted that expansion of co-operative societies would enable the United States to retain and operate its merchant marine at a profit.

"I am proud to travel on an American ship," he said. "If I think it would be a shame if the government sold these boats at this time at a small price, and I know the people at large would resent it. At the present time American shipping, which is a real competitor to boats under Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

PLANS PERFECTED TO AID SAUNDERS

Memphis Business Men to Market Piggly Wiggly Stock at $55 a Share on Conditions.

Memphis, Tenn., May 3.—Plans to market approximately 50,000 shares of stock of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., at $55 per share was perfected at a meeting today of Memphis business men who rallied to the support of Clarence Saunders, president of the concern, who announced in page newspaper advertisements that he would "go broke" unless he disposed of the stock.

Under the plans adopted all money paid in on stock subscriptions will be held by the sales committee until the entire block is sold and an investigation is to be made by the committee as to the soundness of the investment. If the shares are not all sold or if the committee fails to endorse the project the money will be returned to the subscribers.

The situation which resulted in the organization of the stock selling campaign came as an aftermath to a recent sensational Wall street episode in which Piggly Wiggly and Mr. Saunders ventured market in a buying campaign which he declared was necessary to "save the stockholders of my company from loss and my business from ruin."

To Lose $500,000.
R. L. Jordan, one of the heaviest local stockholders in Piggly Wiggly, who attended today's conference to answer questions of the committee, declared Saunders would lose not less than $500,000 even if the entire block of 50,000 shares is sold at the price asked.

Decision to undertake the stock selling drive was made at a dinner last night at a local hotel attended by several representative business men, at which Mr. Saunders explained his need of disposal of the accumulated stock and resolutions were adopted by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce expressing confidence in Saunders.

Organized under the slogan, "Memphis take care of her own," scores of leading business men of this city today began an intensive campaign to secure the repeal of the liquor law.

SEE FIGHT COMING ON LIQUOR ISSUE

Test of Strength in Next Congress Will Reveal
Measure of Claims Made by Wet Forces.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS OUTSTANDING ISSUE

Passing of Proposal for Participation in World
Court by United States
Vital Point.

Washington, May 3.—President Harding has won a clear victory in the first test of strength over his proposal to join the world court. Incidentally it has come from the state of Illinois, who is soon to return from Europe to lead the fight against the president's court plan.

Captain John D. Fredericks, of Los Angeles, was elected to congress from the tenth California district after declaring that he desired a straight out endorsement by the voters as an advocate of the world court. He received a vote of two to one over his nearest opponent, with six candidates in the race.

President Harding received the news with a grin, but declined to comment. This victory came on the same day that a white house spokesman announced Harding would not press his court plan, but would trust to the deliberative judgment of the country for approval.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, May 3.—While public attention is diverted by the quarrel between President Harding and the senate over the world court, democrats are quietly trying to find their way out of factional differences over two important issues of the coming presidential campaign—the league of nations and liquor.

Fortunately for the democrats, they will have the advantage of seeing both of these questions tested out in the early days of the next congress. The supreme court's decision this week recognizing the right of congress to determine whether American ships shall carry liquor on the high seas will open the wet and dry issue up for a free-for-all fight in the next congress.

Drys have begun to gather their forces to amend the Volstead act as soon as congress returns in December. This fight will be in the nature of a test of strength and will reveal whether the swing away from prohibition has been as great as the wets have claimed. Drys realize that prohibition is about to be put to the acid test.

BOYCOTT PROVES TO BE BOOMERANG

Indorsement by Harding and Hoover Brings Accusations—Sugar Still Dropping.

New York, May 3.—Endorsement by President Harding and secretary of Commerce Hoover of the boycott to lower sugar prices has proved to be a boomerang.

As a result of it, Hoover is accused of "making the department of commerce a party to a conspiracy in restraint of trade," and Harding is asked to reduce the tariff on raw sugar as proof of his sincerity to cut prices.

Farr & Co. challenged Hoover's action in a telegram to the commerce secretary, saying:

"Do you realize that in giving official action to the boycott you are making yourself and your department a party to a conspiracy in restraint of trade of the most obvious kind? This is at a time when the department of justice is bringing an action against the members of the sugar exchange charging this same conspiracy. Your position is certainly a most inconsistent one and creates a painful impression upon everybody connected with the sugar industry whose patriotism during the war you will perhaps remember."

The City Parliament of Community Councils voted to ask President Harding to reduce the duty on sugar 50 per cent as an emergency measure to bring down prices.

Mrs. Louise Reed Weltzinger, in charge of the New York housewives' boycott, declared she was seeking a million signatures to petition asking Harding to appeal to the nation to stop consuming sweets wherever possible. She said she would invite the president to address a protest meeting here next Friday, when it will be announced that children of the public schools have pledged to go without candy.

Raw sugar was purchased by the refining companies Wednesday for the first time since the boycott started. Transactions were at 6 1/4 cents a pound, a drop of 3-8 of a cent from the last previous sale.

Army and Navy Officials
Emphasize Swift Con-

at Any Point.

Washington, May 3.—A new era of aviation, with untold commercial and military possibilities, has been opened by the successful non-stop transcontinental flight of the famous American aero twins, Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady, of the United States army, who spanned the continent in 26 hours 50 minutes 48.2 seconds from New York to San Diego.

Officials of the government, pouring congratulations upon the two aviators at San Diego, are already measuring the future significance of the event.

They point to three possible developments, with non-stop transcontinental flying now a fact:

1.—Twenty-four hour mail service from coast to coast.

2.—Prompt mobilization of a whole fleet of war planes at either coast, or upon any other threatened frontier in the event of war.

3.—A vast benefit to commerce, with many possibilities.

The air mail service has been planning a 33-hour mail service from New York to San Francisco to begin late this summer. Thursday's accomplishment removes all doubt of its practicability.

"That clinches it," Postmaster General New said when informed of the success of the flight. "Now we know it can be done."

Military Importance.
Army and navy air officials here, highly pleased, spoke of the military importance of the event, picturing the swift concentration of the nation's air fleet at any point of danger, with swarms of buzzing planes, hovering through the night from scattered air stations to protect the quiet countryside which sleeps beneath them. All that will be necessary now, in view of the demonstration of successful long distance and night flying, will be establishment of way stations in various parts of the country in case of emergency. This will probably be brought to the attention of congress. The field of commercial development is almost unlimited. With the

DISCOVERY OF OIL
IN ALASKAN FIELDS
PROMINENT ISSUE

Harding to Be Introduced to Difficult Problems
During Visit to Far North.

Washington, May 3.—President Harding, when he enters Alaska on his coming trip, will be introduced to several difficult problems whose solution will determine future government policy in developing the opulent territory which was purchased from Russia for a song.

The president is expected to weigh his observations and make his decision very carefully, as a difference on general government policy which involved Alaska—that of conservation—has already caused the withdrawal of one member of his cabinet, former Secretary of the Interior Fall.

Briefly, these are the broad problems which the president faces:

1. Development of oil resources which recent discoveries have proved are very rich.

2. Development of industries connected with valuable forests in Alaska, such as the lumber and paper and pulp industries.

3. Determination of administration of the territory, whether best under several government departments as now, or under one special bureau.

4. Transportation facilities.

5. Immigration.

Oil, now one of the principal considerations of the governments of the world, has become a vital question for the United States government in Alaska. Oil was discovered there only recently. The first discovery was made in the far north, near Point Barrow, beyond the Arctic circle, by Alex Smith, a veteran Scotch trader, whose dogs stumbled into a slimy pool one day as they were pushing across the white wilderness of snow.

Since then oil has been discovered in the south, and it is there that the first development has begun. Both the Standard Oil company and the Associated Oil company are preparing to bore early in the summer near Cold Bay. Private individuals have already started development on a small scale.

Under present laws only very small concessions are granted for development. An oil company and a private individual are on the same basis. Oil companies are anxious to have larger grants authorized, claiming that only in this way can they afford to undertake development. Pressure will be brought to bear on President Harding to urge some extension of the present narrow concessions. On the other hand, this extension will probably be opposed by those who favor slow development and strict conservation, and who protested at the recent grant of naval oil tracts at 3-capt Jones, Wyo., to the Sinclair interests.

More Extensive Rights.
Lumber concerns operating in Alaska are well satisfied with the conditions prescribed by the government, according to officials of the department of agriculture. However, with the opening up of this industry on a larger scale the usual demand for more extensive rights may be expected, and the president will bear the brunt of the attack.

One of the biggest problems is that of administration of the vast territory, once facetiously called "Seward's folly." As it is now, nearly every department of the government has jurisdiction over some portion of Alaskan administration. Oil is under the interior department, forests under agriculture, while the navy controls wireless and cable rights, and the two government boats which ply the Yukon are under the war department. The president has been urged to place administration of the territory under one special bureau formed for the purpose and devoted to Alaskan questions.

The Alaskan railway, running 590 miles to the interior, has completed last year, but the necessity for feeder lines from the surrounding territory has been urged and the president will be called on to decide whether he shall ask congress for money for that purpose.

One of the liveliest problems in Alaska today is that of immigration due to the migration of more than 20,000 inhabitants during the war, who never returned. The president has already been urged to modify the immigration laws, which are the same for the United States, in order that more people may enter Alaska to assist in its development.

Giant Plane Swoops to Gentle Landing in San Diego After 2700-Mile Journey.

HARDING AND OFFICIALS
WIRE CONGRATULATION

"You Have Written New Chapter in Triumphs of American Aviation," Wires President.

San Diego, May 3.—Two young men, grotesquely fat in their fur-lined aviation suits, hopped from the cabin of the huge army monoplane T-2, at Rockwell field, North Island, Thursday afternoon and into the pages of American history. Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly had crossed the American continent, from Roosevelt field, Long Island, just outside New York city, in 26 hours, 50 minutes, 48.2 seconds, the first non-stop flight ever made from coast to coast.

The big, grumbling bird was first sighted here at 12:20 Thursday afternoon. Seven minutes later it had swooped to a landing, outstripping two army planes that went aloft to extend a greeting and escort the celebrity to its goal.

Shout "Greetings."

"Hey! Greetings!" the two young officers shouted, scrambling down from their perch into the midst of a frenzied crowd which shouldered them as though they were infants and carried them to an automobile. To them the uproar was all one with the din which had been beating against their ears without a moment's let-up ever since 1:37 Wednesday afternoon. They were deaf to the compliments paid them by the sirens of the city's factories, by their fellow officers and by local officials who told them in extravagant language that they had just that moment made their names historic. Pretty young girls shoved flowers into their arms. Newspaper photographers struggled in a swift roughhouse to shove aside erstwhile dignified officials to shoot snapshots for a permanent record of an immortal moment.

From New York to San Diego is about 2,400 miles, but Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly are believed to have gone quite some distance further for they ran into a rain storm near Kansas City during the night and reeled up the gleaming thread of the Missouri river northward for a time, to get their bearings.

Establish Record.

But regardless of the details, the two have established a new record for continuous cross-country flight and in the brief span from one noon-time to another have achieved the dream which the long forgotten pioneer Cal Rodgers tried to bring to pass in his rickety, aerial survey buggy when aviation was a dare-devil game, more than a decade ago. They are the same airmen who set out from San Diego last November 4 in an attempt to fly to New York but were forced to the ground near Indianapolis by a leak in their radiator. This time they correctly figured that the thing to do was to start from New York with their peak load of gasoline and oil and to cross the towering Rockies at the far end of the leap, thus having a light burden to lift over the hump as their fuel would then be exhausted. It worked. They had

EPISCOPAL COUNCIL HOLDS LAST SESSION

Standing Committees Named and Additions Made to Executive Board.

Election of a standing committee and additions to the executive board of the diocese were chief features of the final session of the sixteenth annual council of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta, held Thursday in St. Luke's church.

The following were elected to the committee: Rev. W. W. Meminger, Rev. T. H. Johnston, of Atlanta, and Rev. C. H. Lee, of Macon, as clerical representatives; Colonel Z. D. Harrison and Judge C. L. Pettigrew, of Atlanta, and T. E. Berry, of Columbus, as lay members.

Additions to the executive board, which functions between annual meetings of the council, are as follows: Rev. C. B. Wilmer and Mr. Kennedy, of Atlanta; Rev. S. A. Wragg, of Columbus; C. L. Bunting, of Macon, and Mrs. J. C. Hoke, of Decatur.

The standing committee passes upon all matters of canonical order, both in the general church and the local diocese.

Immediately following adjournment of the council, the executive board met and organized. Appeals were made to the body concerning various assessments against local churches in the million-dollar endowment fund for the University of the South, at Seawee. Definite work for the advancement of St. Mary's church in Athens, was considered. The church has not been active for some time.

Ben Finney, acting vice chancellor of the University of the South, addressed the council. He said the institution is now in the best condition in its history.

The council will meet in St. Paul's church, Macon, next May.

FUTURE OF AVIATION UNLIMITED, SAYS ACE

Rickenbacker, on Short Visit to City, Talks of Air Navigation.

With the sky as the limit, both figuratively and literally speaking, air travel across oceans and continents will be the next commercial venture in aviation, according to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker. Captain Rickenbacker, one of the greatest of America's aces in the world war, who is now an officer of the Rickenbacker Motor company, predicted great things for the flying machine during his visit to Atlanta Thursday.

"Aviation has no limits," said the captain. "A year ago people said there would only be a demand for 20,000 automobiles per annum, but that was erroneous. Today the annual output is 3,000,000 in America alone. The demand for quicker transportation has made the automobile and will in turn make the flying machine."

"The airplane, as it is now constructed, will hardly be used successfully in ocean travel," said Captain Rickenbacker. "Provided sufficient helium gas is developed, the airship will be the vehicle, although personally I prefer the airplane flying to the ship method of transportation."

Captain Rickenbacker made the rather unusual assertion that he believed the air was safer than the road for travel. "There is less likelihood of accidents in the air," he said.

Captain Rickenbacker, who recently returned from the war area of Europe, said that France and Belgium have recovered to a large extent from the devastation that marked the first and second years after the signing of the armistice.

$15,000 PER DAY RATE OF PAYMENT OF ATLANTA TAXES

Payment of city taxes for 1922 is being made at the tax collector's office in the city hall at the rate of approximately $15,000 per day, it was revealed Thursday by Marvin L. Roane, city tax collector.

A discount of 1 1/2 per cent on the total of taxes paid before May 15 is being allowed all taxpayers.

Time for the receiving of tax returns in DeKalb county has been extended to May 15, and all who fail to file their returns by that time will receive the penalty of the law it was announced Thursday by Tax Receiver Bonds. Mr. Bonds states that fewer offenders have been noted this year than heretofore, only one-fourth of the county property now remaining to be listed.

EPSTEIN AND ROBERTS GET INSURANCE AGENCY

Epstein and Roberts, local insurance agents, have been given the Georgia general agency by the Royal Indemnity company, succeeding Dargan & Turner, who are retiring from the casualty line, it was announced Thursday.

The change was effected through an agreement that is mutually satisfactory to both concerns. The Royal Indemnity business has been under the supervision of Dargan & Turner for more than ten years. Both members of the firm of Epstein & Roberts have had considerable experience in the business. Their offices are in the Atlanta Trust building.

paign of personal solicitation for the sale of stock of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., to whose president, Clarence Saunders, center of the recent Piggly Wiggly sensation in the New York stock exchange, they enthusiastically pledged their support at a dinner attended by the friends of Saunders' last night.

Teams were organized under the direction of a multiple-membered local committee, and by Wednesday three days of activity, for which they will receive no financial remuneration, to carry to success the local capitalist's plan of disposing of 50,000 shares of class "A" Piggly Wiggly stock to the public.

The action of the local business men was taken under the leadership of S. H. Butler, president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, whose directorate had endorsed the Saunders' stock selling campaign and in resolution declared that "Mr. Saunders has put the interest of his friends and of this community above his personal interests."

The rally of the citizens to the aid of Piggly Wiggly and its president, followed the publication in newspaper advertisements yesterday of Mr. Saunders' declaration that "... unless I sell the Piggly Wiggly class

"A I will go broke," under the caption: "Wall street is right." Although preceded by only a few hours' notice, the dinner meeting last night was attended by more than 300 representative citizens, including perhaps a hundred women. In a number of speeches delivered the sentiment repeatedly expressed was:

Loyalty of Memphis. "The personal fortune of Mr. Saunders is not the issue. It is rather the loyalty of Memphians to Memphis in a struggle to save for this city the greatest single asset enjoyed by its people."

Representatives of civic clubs, labor organizations and financial associations promised the support of constituencies in making the Piggly Wiggly campaign a success. Every man in the hall responded to the chairman's request for volunteers in the three day drive.

Mr. Saunders himself was present and in a brief speech outlined the situation and expressed confidence in the outcome. He was loudly applauded.

The advertisement published by the Piggly Wiggly executive, following several weeks the almost unprecedented fluctuation of its stock on the New York exchange when hundreds of short sellers were caught, declared that he had not made "a nickel" in his trading on the exchange because, he said, he held the interest of those who trusted him above his own.

"I did not go into the market to make money," the statement says, "but to save money for others, and, as Wall street says, unless I am able to sell the stock which I have on hand ... my personal fortune will be wiped out."

"If I did not owe money, borrowed on the stock, which loaned I wish to pay, I would not sell a single share."

Financial Conditions. The financial condition of the corporation, the statement declares, is "except so far as my being held in the company is worth," the business, it avows, is "immense and profitable," embracing the operation of 1,267 stores.

The stock of the corporation was ruled off the New York exchange at the same time it was withdrawn from the board by Mr. Saunders. The board of governors granted a five days' extension for delivery by "shorts" and Mr. Saunders for this action denounced them, vigorously and announced his intention to seek damages in the courts. The court action, his advertisement now declares, "will be undertaken and settled later."

APPROVE AMENDMENT

Richmond, Va., May 3.—An amendment to the charter of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., of which Clarence Saunders, of Memphis is president, increasing the capital stock of the concern from 250,000 shares to 500,000 shares, was approved today by the Virginia corporation commission.

A corporation tax was paid on an amount equaling $55,000,000 capital stock.

foreign flags, has forced sea-freight rates on farm products down 40 per cent lower than before the war, and that alone will compensate the farmers directly, and the government indirectly, for any loss in operation. With the readjustment of business conditions and the gradual linking of American and European co-operative, the great increase in business will certainly make these American boats profitable."

Opening Wedge

As to the world now, Brookhart expressed fear that American entrance might be interpreted by other nations as an opening wedge "to get us into all sorts of European alliances directly, and the government is saying, 'I haven't made up my mind about it yet. I can tell you more when I come back, about the middle of July.'"

Brookhart said it was not unlike he would meet Senator Hiram Johnson, anti-court irreconcilable while traveling about in Europe. "In that case we will compare notes," he suggested.

The farm senator said a complimentary goodbye to the housewives of the country for starting a boycott against the "sugar speculators," but was not pleasant to Judge Elbert H. Gary, of the United States Steel corporation. Asked about Gary's attack on the 3 per cent immigration law, Brookhart said:

"Personally I am against anything and all things that Judge Gary stands for. When he gets patriotic and talks that way, there's a nigger in the woodpile somewhere. I think the immigration quota law is good."

DANGER SIGNALS OF INDIGESTION

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning.

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system "lets down" in tone and vigor with the first approach of warm weather.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tell us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull, lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, unrefreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come late.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Dan-Nax, the greatest prescription that was ever written for a digestive tonic. Dan-Nax immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including the stomach, liver and bowels. Dan-Nax makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Dan-Nax today at any drug store. Dan-Nax is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the manufacturers have instructed every druggist to refund the price if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous, get Dan-Nax today.—(adv.)

French Officials Say German Note Is "Impossible"

Agree That Reparations Plan
Would Prove "Time-Worn
German Trap."

Paris, May 3.—The French reply to the German reparations offer is a short, terse document; the text of it went forward to Brussels this evening. It is an unequivocal refusal of Chancellor Cuno's proposals. Though the nature of the contents has not been disclosed officially, it can be asserted that the note in no way takes the form of a counter-proposition.

Premier Poincaré, M. De Lasteyrie, M. Le Troquer, M. Reibel and M. Barthou collaborated in drawing up the reply. All agreed that by setting forth a reparations plan, France would only fall into a time-worn German trap whereby Germany, they believe, was seeking to induce her opponents to make concessions, without giving any promises herself.

It is understood the note begins by declaring the impossibility of using the German note as a basis for negotiations.

The note leaves no doubt regarding France's determination not to brook mediation, but to recover her due. The reply is said to explain the reasons for refusal to negotiate by merely refusing the essential passages of Chancellor Cuno's offer without detailed explanation. A special courier left for Brussels with the text.

Officials Expect
Early Redemption
Of Victory Notes

New York, May 3.—Redemption of victory notes which has been going on recently at the rate of about $1,000,000 a day, is expected to culminate on May 20, when $775,000,000 of them bearing the designating letters G, H, I, J, K and L will be accepted for redemption at the national treasury or federal reserve banks. The Monthly Review of the New York Federal Reserve bank said today:

All interest on the notes will cease on that date. Redemption of these notes will mark the final retirement of the victory issues, which amounted to $4,500,000,000. The greater part of the redemption of the issues has occurred since May, 1921, when the treasury announced its plan for debt redemption and refunding.

The treasury called for prepayment on June 15 last of the entire amount of the 3-3-4 per cent victory notes then outstanding, amounting to $225,000,000, and on December 15 that portion of the 4-3-4 per cent series bearing the designating letters through F, amounting to $700,000,000.

Harding Expresses Hope for Relief Of Starving Nations

A solid train, called "the happy special" with 30 cars of feed, left Birmingham on Tuesday, May 1, for delivery the following day to the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, at Offerman, Ga. Some of the cars were hooked onto the Seaboard Air Line road at Thalmann, Ga.

This large shipment of feed was consigned to various Florida destinations for account of the Jackson Grain company of Tampa, a large distributor of feed.

proof of successful night flying the possibilities for more extensive passenger service will be opened. Light fast freight service will also be possible. Transoceanic flying was also given a big boost by the feat of Kelly and MacReady, and air trips to Europe may not be far away.

The air mail service in its 33-hour schedule will make a triple hop across the continent—New York to Chicago, Chicago to Cheyenne, Cheyenne to San Francisco. It operates only a daylight service now on the same route. Twenty-two planes are in service. It is likely that many more will be added when the fast service begins in the late summer. It is also very likely that the service will be speeded up, so that a letter mailed in New York one morning will reach San Francisco the next.

Expansion of Continent.
President Harding, General Pershing, Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, and Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant chief, sent congratulations to the two aviators, who had seen the whole expanse of a continent pass beneath them within little more than 24 hours, from the towers of Manhattan, across the wide plains of the west, above the peaks of the Rockies, to the wide sweep of the Pacific.

Encouraged by the success of Kelly and MacReady, the army's fastest airship, the AC-1, which is now on its way for a non-stop record, is planning to go on beyond Scott Field, Illinois, its planned destination, in an effort to set a new non-stop record for this type of dirigible, the war department announced Thursday. The ship, which is the fastest in the world, left Langley Field, Va., Wednesday afternoon. It can travel 167 miles an hour. It is this type of ship which will be practical in passenger service extension and its success is watched for this reason.

Soundless Speech Used by Chinese For Interpretation

New York, May 3.—Soundless speech devised by Chinese detectives was described at the international police conference today by C. P. Wang, inspector general for the province of Kiang Su.

As the Chinese delegate explained, each province in his country has its own peculiar dialect, so that, while the printed language is national, the police of two or more cities are unable to talk to one another.

A system of communicating by means of gestures and facial movements was worked out and the Chinese alphabet, a ponderous affair, was coded into silent phrases and sentences.

CONTINUE PROBE OF LAINO'S DEATH

Army Investigating Committee to Report Findings on Soldier's End to Fort Commander Today.

With all evidence detectives and army officers had been able to assemble Thursday pointing toward suicide, the board of army officers appointed to investigate the death of Sergeant Andrew Laino, in a Forsyth street hotel Wednesday night, continued its probe until Friday, when its findings will be transmitted to the commanding officer at Fort McPherson.

A possible connection between Sergeant Laino's death and that of Private John Kollanus, about a month ago, is observed by investigators. Laino was found dead in a hotel at 81-2 North Forsyth street, about 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Found Automatic.

A large army automatic was found upon his chest and two empty shells. The bullet that caused his death entered the right temple and came out of the left, being flattened against the iron bed post. This ball is also believed to have inflicted the flesh wound on the left arm, just below the elbow.

Another bullet went through the wall into the adjoining room and imbedded itself in a door-jam.

Native of Finland.

Sergeant Laino is a native of Finland, as was Private Kollanus. Kollanus' body, with his throat cut, was found in a creek near Fort McPherson about a month ago. He and Sergeant Laino were friends, and in a note Kollanus entrusted a large amount of money to Laino to be sent him by mail.

Sergeant Laino was placed in prison by army officials during their investigation of Kollanus' death, but later was released on account of lack of evidence.

Only $2.95 was found on Laino's person, which caused Captain N. W. Richmond, adjutant at the fort, to express surprise, as he had drawn his pay of $50 on Tuesday.

ANNISTON SCHOOL POPULATION HAS PHENOMENAL GAIN

Anniston, Ala., May 3.—(Special.) According to a statement made Tuesday by D. R. Murphy, superintendent of the city schools, the growth of the Anniston schools has been phenomenal during the past year.

Despite the fact the three new buildings were thrown open for the use of the school children of the city, the rapid increase in numbers has already congested the present facilities and steps will have to be taken to accommodate a further increase during the coming year.

The increase in total enrollment during the past year was 430 pupils, involving an additional expenditure of approximately $12,000 for actual operating expenses.

To care for the additional expense of the city schools, it will be necessary to raise more funds, and at a mass meeting that is to be held in the new high school auditorium next Monday it is expected that a movement will be set on foot to secure an election authorizing an issue of $100,000 in bonds and an increase of two mills school tax.

Sovereign Grand Commander Geo. Fleming Moore, of the southern jurisdiction of Scottish Rite Masons, and Dr. William J. Mahoney, of Atlanta, national lecturer, were greeted at the Masonic hall in this city Monday evening by a large number of Anniston and Oxford Masons, Eastern Stars and Protectors, who followed their lectures with intense interest.

Dr. Mahoney and Mr. Moore are touring all the principal cities in Alabama in the interests of the coming organization of a Protestant council this spring.

EUROPEAN POWERS TO FOLLOW LEAD ON MEXICAN ISSUE

Washington, May 3.—Great Britain and France probably will recognize the Mexican government if the American negotiations, which begin next week, are successful. The two American commissioners, Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, are to leave here Sunday for Mexico City to meet with the two commissioners selected by President Obregon.

State department officials refuse to discuss the probable outcome of the negotiations, but in unofficial quarters there is every confidence that a treaty of amity and commerce will result. The advantages which would accrue to the Obregon government by establishing diplomatic relations with the United States and Great Britain and France are so great that the Mexican president can be trusted to assist in removing every obstacle to recognition.

AIRMEN REACH GOAL IN NON-STOP FLIGHT

also noted minor imperfections of the ship they flew in that first attempt and they remedied these defects in the T-2 for the next attempt, now successful.

San Diego, long accustomed to the roar of aeroplanes, realized that this was no ordinary spin of an airplane taxicab. The city made holiday. Thousands of people were in the streets, gazing eastward for the speck that finally relieved their eye-strain and grew to high size in a few minutes. There were between 3,000 and 4,000 people waiting at the field and such was their greeting that the army officers at the post, most of them friends of the two young fliers, were compelled to rescue them by force.

Begrimed and Spattered.

MacReady and Kelly were begrimed and spattered with oil from crown to toe.

Fight Rate Increase.

Barnesville, Ga., May 3.—(Special.) More than twenty officials and industrial representatives from Macon, Jackson, Forsyth, Monticello and the territory involved met Wednesday in this city and resolved to vigorously fight the proposed increase asked for in rates by the Central Georgia Power company. There will be a number of prominent attorneys involved in the case when the hearing comes before the Georgia public service commission.

Why National Advertised Goods Are Most Popular

See How Many of the Slogans and Trade-Marks You Can Identify. Some Big Prizes.

There are many reasons why nationally advertised goods are preferred. For example, travelers are able to get exactly the same kind of soda crackers in the east as in the west, in the north as in the south—and all of them equally good and crisp.

Another reason why advertised goods are preferred is because if any thing should happen to them the original manufacturer is known, stands back of them, they are in effect bonded by him, he has given his word to the general public and he will not let them down.

Almost without exception, all of the improvements in packages, or other containers, have been the direct outcome of national advertising.

In addition to these well-recognized reasons why nationally advertised goods are preferred by the discriminating, many new ones will undoubtedly be brought out in connection with the National Slogan and Trade-Mark Campaign now running as a feature in The Constitution.

After the campaign is over we know that there will be many new sights and lights on reasons why buyers prefer advertised goods because one of the rules of the campaign requires that each entrant submit, in as brief a form as possible, an article on this very point.

Yet that perhaps is the easiest part of an extremely simple campaign in memory and mind impressions.

heel. They both appeared drawn and tired but not so as to be bored with the acclaim that greeted them. When they found sanctuary in the officers' quarters, they were showered with telegrams of congratulation from officers at other army posts, from personal friends and from the officials of aero clubs in far-flung parts of the country. They also disgorged from the depths of their bulky uniforms a large number of messages which their friends in the east had commissioned them to deliver to friends on the coast as mementoes of the first transcontinental non-stop flight.

Even the parents of Lieutenant MacReady were deced by the rapidity of the flight for they made a leisurely trip from Los Angeles to be on the field at the landing and were still on the way when the T-2 brought their son in triumph to the ground. Miss Mary Watson, a pretty young woman, Kelly's fiancée and Wade Kelly, his brother, were at the field with two other relatives of the flier. They were all there to greet the two young men in their home at Grove City, Pennsylvania.

In addition to the former non-stop overland record achieved in the Indianapolis flight—2,000 miles—the two young men also held the endurance record of 36 hours, 40 minutes in the air, established at Dayton, Ohio. When the official readings of the instruments on this new flight have been recorded, the distance probably will stretch to 2,750 miles.

In passing over San Diego the plane made about 120 miles an hour, then flashed across to North Island where the field is, abated its speed for a circle of the campus and came lightly down on the running gear.

Provisions Carried.

Kelly and MacReady carried two gallons of coffee in thermos flasks and cooked rations for two days. But for the voracious engines of the machine they had 730 gallons of gasoline, 32 gallons of oil and 25 gallons of water, which brought the dead weight of the loaded machine to 10,850 pounds.

The ship is engined with a Liberty motor of 425 horsepower.

The weather was perfect at the finish. The sun shone and there was neither breath or wind nor wisp of fog to hamper the men. MacReady said, however, as soon as he was able to talk about the flight, they had been helped along in the latter hours by a "wonderful tail wind" which eased them down the slopes of the Rockies and waited them close to San Diego with a gentle, friendly shove.

"But it was a terrible trip," said MacReady, and his appearance bore him out.

There was a singular poverty of incident to mark the flight of the T-2 over this or that place along the line. At their home post, McCookfield, near Dayton, Ohio, they dropped a note to their commanding officer, respectfully reporting that his two young men were going well and would dine Thursday in San Diego. They left cards again at Wilbur Wright field, but did not tarry. The sailing was smooth and by twilight the two figures, huddled over their maps in the cabin, spotted themselves over Missouri, ordinarily 30 hours from New York city by train.

Sparsely Settled Country.

They are getting into sparsely settled country. The ceaseless grumble of their motor over isolated farmhouses and dark hamlets disturbed the sleep of many a family whose members may have grumbled at History, winging past in a monoplane. There is the lack of the rainclouds a pencil of white jutting forward from the southeast, trying to show the way. "Look in the Texas Panhandle caught swift glimpses of them, coming and going and then they were heard

STANOCOLA MOTOR OIL

So carefully is quality in Polarine guarded that, no matter whether you buy it in packages or have it poured into your motor from the service station or dealer's tank, you may be assured there is no variation in its oiliness or lubricating qualities.

The packages are easy to handle, pour readily, lie flat under the seat in your car; and it is an excellent idea to carry a reserve stock of oil in this way. Polarine is produced, transported and dispensed with such care that wherever you see a dealer who displays the Polarine sign you may be assured that the quality of the oil he pours into your crank case is of the highest.

study made by the air service in preparation for the flight was made public today. It points out the material advantages, both commercial and military, attendant upon the successful accomplishment of the flight. From a standpoint of national defense, the report says, a non-stop transcontinental air voyage indicates the feasibility of transporting men, messages, equipment or any other vital necessity, from one coast to the other in an incredibly short space of time.

In the field of commercial aviation, the report says, the accomplishment is expected to encourage aircraft companies to organize aerial transport services and establish an increased number of landing fields and air routes.

Turns Over Winnings.

Franklin R. Kenney, of New York, a war-time executive officer of the army air service, telegraphed the following message today to the army air service:

"I win $5,000 if MacReady and Kelly are successful in non-stop flight. Will you wire my expense MacReady and Kelly asking them if they will accept the $5,000 as a gift to celebrate the greatest achievement in our aviation history? You explain to them and make the gallant young bull p... take it."

Air service officials followed instructions and awaited tonight a reply from the two lieutenants before answering the message received from Mr. Kenney.

CHAMBER PLANS TO HONOR LEADING BUSINESS HOUSES

Announcement that the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will present to commercial, professional and individual firms of the city that have functioned in Atlanta for periods of 25 or 50 years, "awards of permanency" in the form of embossed and engraved certificates, in recognition of their service to the city, was made Thursday by Alfred C. Newell, president, following a meeting of the board of directors.

Minor details will be worked out by the executive committee at an early date, it was said, but it is understood that it is not necessary for a firm to be a member of the chamber of commerce to receive a certificate, the prime requisites being the age and stability of the firm.

"We feel that it is fitting to place a mark of approval officially upon those commercial members of the community whose long periods of service in business has added to the prestige and power of the city," Mr. Newell said.

W. & A. CONDITION BETTER THAN EVER, SAYS COMMISSION

Condition of the Western and Atlantic railroad property, owned by the state and leased to the Louisville & Nashville railroad, is better now than at any other period of its existence, was the unanimous opinion expressed by members of the Georgia public service commission, who returned from an inspection of the road Thursday morning.

All members of the commission left in a special car Wednesday for Chattanooga to inspect the property. A number of pending improvements are going forward rapidly and the road will soon be in excellent shape, it was reported.

J. Lewis McKoin was chosen by the board to represent the Atlanta board at the approaching national convention of realtors at Cleveland. The entertainment program included songs by Miss Eloise Vining, soprano, accompanied by Miss Wall.

tee and the newspapers of Atlanta, were unanimously adopted.

One of the most important resolutions passed was the adoption of a code of ethics by the association which states in part:

"As a manufacturer of food I recognize my responsibility to the public, and hereby agree that all foods prepared and offered for sale by me or the company which I represent, shall be prepared and distributed for sale under strict sanitary conditions."

"I will use in my products only materials of known purity and quality; refusing to use any imitation or substitute materials intended to deceive the public."

"I further agree that the use of tobacco in any form will not be permitted within the premises where food is being manufactured."

R. W. Harvey, of the Harvey Advertising agency, Atlanta, was one of the principal speakers at the closing session. Mr. Harvey spoke on "A Salable Loaf," and showed the value of attractive wrapping and sanitation to increase sales. Charles R. Roberts, of Knoxville, made a short talk on "Merchandising." Others who spoke were N. E. Drake, president of the Drake Brothers' company, of Brooklyn, and H. E. Turley, bacteriologist of the American Bakers' institute.

THREE-DAY AUTO TOUR WILL BEGIN TUESDAY

Ninth District Party Will Follow Same Itinerary as That of Constitution Trip.

A three-day tour of northeast Georgia's mountain regions, through which a number of splendid state highways recently have been completed, will be made next week by a delegation consisting of state highway officials, general assembly members, and county commissioners of the ninth congressional district, according to an announcement made Thursday by W. Tom Winn, president of the Georgia State Highway association.

The party will leave Lawrenceville early Tuesday morning in automobiles, going directly to Gainesville, Cornelia, Clayton, Hiwassee, Blairsville, Highlands (N. C.), Blue Ridge, Ellijay, Canton, Dawsonville, Cumming and back to Lawrenceville.

A special invitation has been extended to all senators and representatives in the state legislature from the ninth district, and to members of the state highway association, to accompany the delegation, the trip being planned by the county commissioners of more than a dozen counties in the ninth district.

Virtually the same itinerary has been selected as that selected by the delegation of federal highway and forest officials, who made a tour last spring over the Nantahala and Cherokee purchase areas, under the auspices of The Constitution. At that time the state highway department was rapidly completing a new system of highways through this region.

Largely as a result of the tour fostered by The Constitution, this section of the state was apportioned approximately $150,000 from the forestry funds to be used in improving roadways through the picturesque federal forest regions.

Corns and Ingrowing Nails

Skin specialists have discovered that painful, perspiring and swollen feet with corns, bunions and ingrowing nails are all caused by germs which grow in the pores of the skin, causing decay of the cuticle, ravenous, eczema, inflammation and odor. SECURITIES BOARD GIVEN MORE POWER

Has Supervision Over Building and Loan Associations, Rules Napier.

Attorney-General George N. Napier in a ruling Thursday held that all building and loan associations operating in Georgia are under the supervision of the state securities commission in conformity with an act of the general assembly in 1920.

By the act of 1920 the ruling recites, it was provided that securities in Class A shall comprise among others, building and loan associations of this state. This seems clearly to include local building and loan enterprises promoted in Georgia.

The act of 1922, amending the act of 1920, creating the commission, clearly was intended to bring such or-

On the charge that she had refused to pay a $6 taxi bill, Mrs. O. C. Waller, of 158 Houston street, was jailed by police Thursday morning under a disorderly conduct charge.

She was arrested on complaint of J. J. Hodgson, taxi driver, who stated she had engaged him to drive her to Stone Mountain and other places, and refused to pay the bill.

At a meeting of the Stone Mountain Memorial association, immediately following that of the monumental organization, it was decided to announce the plan of inaugurating a founder's fund at once, which means that to all contributions of $1,000 or more to the big memorial, the name of the donor or that of anyone he may choose will be placed on bronze tablets that will be kept in the memorial hall that is to stand at the foot of the granite mountain.

These tablets will be arranged according to states and the names of the $1,000 donors will be placed under the state in which they live.

Much Accomplished.

Seven or eight $1,000 donations have already been received, it was stated.

With reference to the action of the monumental association giving approval to the big program that has already been carried out by the memorial body, it was explained by Mr. Webb that much has been accomplished to date by the latter association despite the fact that it has been acting largely as a propagation department. "The work, however," he declared, "is well under way, and the public is familiar with the things that have so far been accomplished. Now we have the legal authority to go ahead with the work, people may look forward to rapid work under the direction of Gutzon Borglum, who is on the ground, and who will have actual work going forward within a short time on the central group of figures."

SCHOOL CHILDREN HOLD FIELD DAY NEXT SATURDAY

Thousands of boys and girls attending Atlanta public schools will assemble in Ponce de Leon park at 9 o'clock Saturday morning to attend the annual field day exercises sponsored by the school department.

Following is a list of events:

For boys: High jump, broad jump; chinling and 40 and 100-yard dash.

For girls: Basket throw; eat bag throw; hop, skip and jump, and 50 and 100-yard dash.

For the championship of the Atlanta schools the following contests will be held: Volley ball (boys), Forward v. Luckie; relay ball (girls), Ormewood v. Luckie; Dodge ball (boys), Ira v. Forrest avenue; girls, Forrest v. Forrest avenue; Potato race (boys), Fraser v. Home Park; Relay (girls), Ira v. Luckie; Shuttle relay (boys), Milton v. Tenth; girls, Fraser v. Highland.

Calumet bakes things better— say women who have tried all brands

WOMEN who turn to Calumet, we find to be critical housewives, who insist upon wholesomeness in baking and never failing results.

Because of its scientific formula, its purity and uniform preparation, Calumet has become the largest selling baking powder on earth.

To women whose bakings have not been consistently successful should make a strong appeal.

It is the most economical of all. In preventing failures it saves the cost of spoiled ingredients. It is moderate in cost, and because it has more than the ordinary leavening strength, less is used.

On next bake day, get Calumet for your favorite recipe.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Pure Food Authorities.

Made and tested in the largest, most sanitary baking powder factories in the world.

The sales of Calumet are over 2½ times as much as that of any other baking powder.

City Federation to Welcome Biennial Guests With Flags

The Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs has decided to give to the club women of the nation who will attend the general federation council meeting here next week a welcome with flags. The suggestion for this unique and appropriate welcome to the biennial guests is made by Mrs. Samuel Inman, director for Georgia, to the general federation.

Mrs. T. F. Stevens, president of the Atlanta City Federation which is composed of 103 clubs, urges every club woman in Atlanta to display a United States flag and if possible a Georgia flag from her porch, her apartment or hotel window, or from wherever she may live.

In speaking of the movement, Mrs. Stevens says: "The welcome by flags has never been done before, and when Mrs. Inman suggested it as a part of the Atlanta federation could take in welcoming to Atlanta the hosts of club women who will begin to gather here Saturday for the council meeting next week, we were delighted with the suggestion and the committee immediately decided to put it into effect. Club women all over the city everywhere are urged to place their flags Sunday and let them remain during the entire week. Wherever the flag is seen it will proclaim that place the home of a loyal club woman. Whether the flag be large or small, club women of Atlanta are asked to use a flag on their home during the next week and help in this way to welcome to Atlanta the club women of America."

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES

MANICURE SCISSORS

One of the most useful implements invented is the little pair of manicure scissors which every woman possesses. It's much too useful, for it tempts one to keep the edges of the nails smooth by cutting away the little pieces of skin that collect and grow down over the nail. It's so much easier to cut off this skin than to keep it pressed back gently into place, for if it is cut smoothly the nails will look well for about a week and need not be touched, whereas the orangewood stick must be used once or twice a day to keep them nice looking otherwise.

The various cuticle removers on the market are a boon to the woman who cannot afford the time or expense of a professional manicurist. These remove the dead skin from the nail and in most cases give a smooth finish without any further trouble. However, great care must be taken, for these, which are only diluted oxalic acid, are very drying, and in the end will make this tender skin rough and dry. Whenever a cuticle remover is used, the fingers should be scrubbed thoroughly with warm water, soap and a small brush after the dead skin has been scraped away. Then a little cream should be rubbed into the nails and around them and allowed to stay on several minutes.

There are times, of course, when manicure scissors must be used, even in an effort to do justice to the old bits of skin that collect on each side of the nail in those little corners where the nail grows out of the flesh. But do not overdo the manicure scissors habit. Cuticle, cut too often, will grow tough and unsightly.

The chief thing to remember in taking care of the nails is to feed them well with oil of cod liver and to push back the cuticle each time after the hands are washed.

Ethel—I am sorry that I cannot help you, but it would be impossible to give the names of business people.

L. M.—You did not state your age, so I cannot tell you what your weight should be, except that a girl of 20, five feet six inches, should weigh about 125 pounds. Add or subtract a half pound for each year either way.

Hopeful—Bleach this fine hair by using peroxide. Coarser hair may be extracted with the tweezers.

Ruth C.—The formula for the hair tonic will be mailed to you if you send a stamped, addressed envelope.

E. N.—The nail biting habit is usually cured by painting, under the tips of the nails, a very little bit of bitter aloes. It is not harmful and only serves as a reminder by its extreme bitterness each time you forget.

Tomorrow—How Perfumes Are Made.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats," department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Pretty Wesleyan Girls Entertain Station WGM Listeners Thursday Night

Glee and Mandolin Club of World's Oldest College for Women Held on 6 to 7 O'Clock Broadcast.

EXCLUSIVE WGM STAR

Listeners to Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, have never heard a more beautiful radio program than was offered on this station's 6 to 7 o'clock broadcast Thursday night. Fourteen members of the Wesleyan College Glee and Mandolin club were heard in an hour's broadcast which will linger as a treasure in the memory of fans who tuned in.

The Wesleyan college girls arrived in Atlanta Thursday afternoon for a concert at Emory university last night at 8:30, but station WGM "cut local to it" and presented the attractive and highly accomplished young ladies on the early program last night. The mandolin club opened the program with "Chord Selection" and "College Medleys," and was followed by a song, "In the Heart of the Song of the Sun," "Indian Cradle Song," "Rock-a-bye," and the waltz number, "Swing Along." Miss Anna Morrison, mezzo-soprano soloist, was heard in a number of vocal numbers.

The Wesleyan College Glee and Mandolin club, composed of thirty-two of the most gifted and highly trained young ladies in the college, is recognized as one of the most popular organizations of its kind in the nation. Edgar Howerton, widely-known southern music lover and musician, is director of the club and has the assistance of his charming and gifted wife as a pianist.

It would be well nigh impossible to select an outstanding star from the members of the club. They are all talented and extremely pretty and have undergone many weeks of careful training. Particular mention is made, however, of Miss Fannie Bell Outler, whose wonderfully rich and clear voice stood out prominently in the chorus work. Mrs. Howerton displayed exceptional finish as a pianist and her contributions were distinct features.

Miss Anna Morrison, soprano, possesses a voice of flute-like purity and a mellowness which his most pleasing to the ear. Her solos last night were unusually enjoyable features and the ease and simplicity with which she gave her numbers suggested a most successful career for her.

One might exhaust the supply of beautiful phrases and choice adjectives in an effort to do justice to the brilliant program and to the vicarious and charming young ladies who blended their efforts to please listeners to this station. It was a most enjoyable program and of that quality and variety which critical fans have learned to expect from the south's "old reliable" station.

Wesleyan Glee Club Presents Pleasing Show

Before a large crowd composed of students and visitors the Wesleyan Glee club made a distinct hit Thursday evening at the Emory university chapel, in a delightfully entertaining program of classical and semi-classical musical numbers interspersed with humorous and dramatic readings.

Miss Anna Morrison proved to be one of the most talented young artists in the east, and her rendition of piano solos, the number, "Carmena" bringing a storm of applause.

Miss Alene Orry, dramatic reader, delighted the audience with several humorous and dramatic sketches. The Mandolin Glee club was one of the most entertaining features of the show, and was accorded several encores.

There are eight members of the Mandolin Glee club while the Glee club has 21 members.

Mrs. Ware's monthly programs at Station WGM are enjoyable features of broadcasts, offering a musical program of balance, of variety and of that splendid quality which radio fans demand of the large broadcasting stations of the nation. P. T. A. Presidents' Club Decides To Honor School Principals

BY GRACE FISCHER.

The principals of the city schools will be entertained at tea on Thursday afternoon, June 7, at the East Lake Country club, by the Parent-Teacher Presidents' club. The tea will be an affair of the associations in the newly-elected presidents of the parent-teacher associations.

The presidents decided to honor the principals when the P. T. A. executive committee met at Jackson at 12:30 o'clock on Thursday at the Ansley hotel and expressed appreciation of the help that the principals have been to the associations in the year's work. Mrs. H. C. McCutchen, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Malone, will be in charge of arrangements for the entertainment.

Guests Present.

Mrs. David Wise, chairman, presided at the meeting, which assembled forty women. Each president has as her guest the member of her association who had been of greatest service during the year and the meeting was marked by enthusiasm and interest.

The presidents were urged by Mrs. Wise to refrain from making sugar desserts and to spread the gospel of "less sugar" and bring down the price, according to the resolution passed by the Fifth District of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs on Monday.

To Help Stone Mountain.

A suggestion made by Mrs. Wise that the association aid the Stone Mountain memorial fund was quickly and enthusiastically taken up by the club and heartily endorsed by Mrs. Frank McCormick, who is a member of the Stone Mountain Memorial association. Plans will be perfected by means of which every school in the city will have a part in contributing to this historical memorial.

Mrs. Frank McCormick, president of the P. T. A. council, asked the presidents to call together the schools in each ward for the purpose of electing the new members to the council board. In order not to interfere with the meetings of the mid-biennial council, the regular meeting of the P. T. A. council has been postponed from next week until May 15, Mrs. McCormick announced.

Mrs. Morris Speaks.

Mrs. Charles Morris, chairman of legislation, who has recently been asked to serve on the Georgia children's code commission, spoke on the work of that body and also concerning the Georgia Kindergarten association, which she urged the presidents to join.

W. A. Sutton, superintendent of the city schools, was present at the close of the meeting and in a short address stressed the importance of registration and voting. He called on the parent-teacher associations to bring home to the women the far-reaching significance of the ballot.

Reports were also made by the P. T. A. presidents who spoke concerning the work of their associations.

STATE FORESTRY BOARD WILL MEET IN MACON, MAY 29

In recognition of the greatly increased cutting of timber, which has occurred during the past year, an open meeting of forestry has called an state board of forestry has called an open meeting to be held in Macon, Ga., Tuesday, May 29, at which time the situation will be thoroughly discussed.

Governor Hardwick's call for the meeting is as follows:

"Under the act creating the state board of forestry, the board was authorized to investigate the forest conditions in the state. In pursuance of this authorization, the board will hold an open meeting at Macon on Tuesday, May 29, at which time citizens are invited to attend and give their views on the subject."

And then, in the passage, he struck a match, and through the crack in the door, the crouching figure could see his eyes—bloodshot, dilated, with that terrible lustre which drugs alone can bring. Mad eyes, lusting for vengeance.

"Ah ha! I see you!" Shielding the flickering light with a cupped left hand, he stared directly at her through the open crack. "Come out and be damned to you, I say."

The girl sprang up as the match suddenly went out, darting to the far side of the kitchen table. She would not fight. She had seen the handle of a knife protruding from his pocket. She must summon every muscle, every nerve, to save herself.

And then, as a nightmare stalked, cat and mouse, "Tiger and lamb" would be more apposite.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETS FOR ROME AND ATHENS

Regional Conventions Will Be Held May 14 to 18. Attractive Program.

Greetings to Georgia Sunday school workers are being sent by Professor R. P. Stephens, general chairman, convention committee on arrangements for the regional meeting to be held in Athens, Ga., on May 14, 15 and 16, accompanied by invitations to all teachers to attend.

Miss Martha Berry, founder of the Berry Schools, Rome, Ga., will be hostess at a continuation of the regional meeting on May 16, 17 and 18. "I am happy to have the privilege of extending my personal invitation to all who are interested in Christian education to be present," Miss Berry writes.

R. D. Webb, general superintendent of the Georgia Sunday school association, has just returned from Athens and Rome, where he conferred with leaders who are making local preparations for taking care of these two regional Sunday school conventions.

Dr. R. P. Stephens, of Athens, is chairman and associated with him are the following: Prof. E. E. Melt, in charge of registration; M. J. Costa, reception; H. H. Gordon, finance; J. M. Mazell, publicity; Dr. J. L. Pendley, building; E. P. Stedje, ushers; G. M. Broadhurst, entertainment, and J. A. Morton, music.

H. J. Arnold is general chairman of the Rome convention committee and associated with him are the following: Mrs. Wilson Hardy, entertainment; B. F. Archer, registration; R. S. Kennard, publicity; H. H. Shuleston, finance; Gaston Garner, reception; B. Keim, music, and Prof. W. S. Nicholson, pianist.

Indications point to a large attendance at both conventions. The programs are up-to-the-minute in all different phases of Sunday school work. Eight out-of-state speakers have been secured, and these are considered among the leading Sunday school experts of the country. All Sunday schools in Georgia are invited to send delegates to these conventions.

GEORGIA BUDGET BOARD EMPLOYS AUDITOR BANSLEY

A brief session of the state budget commission created by act of the 1922 legislature, and consisting of Governor Hardwick, Attorney General George N. Napier, Comptroller General William A. Wright, State Treasurer W. J. Spear, State Senator B. F. Walker, chairman of the senate finance committee, and R. Toombs DuBose, chairman of the house finance committee, was held in the governor's office Thursday to discuss current expenditures and future financial requirements of the state.

The commission adjourned after instructing the comptroller general to tabulate reports of various state institutions and departments showing the anticipated appropriations requested for maintenance of these departments during 1924 and 1925. J. D. Bansley, an auditor, was employed to assist in tabulating these records.

It was voted to hold another meeting of the commission on May 22, at which time the figures of state expenditures and apportionment will be passed upon.

SHEPHERD OFFERS SLOGAN TO BOOST ATLANTA TO WORLD

A new slogan to advertise Atlanta as the "liveliest spot in Dixie" by having the phrase printed on letter heads, envelopes and all printed matter sent out of Atlanta, has been proposed by A. C. Shepherd, attorney, who recently moved to Atlanta from Washington, Ga.

The suggestion was made public by B. S. Barker, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who received a letter containing the suggestion Thursday. Mr. Shepherd points out that the slogan would be of much benefit in calling reader's attention to Atlanta.

The full phrase as suggested by Mr. Shepherd is "The Liveliest Spot in Dixie! Always Was, Is Now, and Always Will Be."

MAYOR SIMS ASKS FOR IMPROVEMENT IN PHONE SERVICE

Improvement in telephone service at the city hall was urged Thursday by Mayor Sims, in an appeal to the Southern Bell Telephone company, in which he requested the company to co-operate with city hall officials in maintaining better service.

"I am confident," declared Mayor Sims, "that the recent survey of the city hall phone system will show there are too many phones in the building. I am also of the opinion that the service would be improved if we did away entirely with the city hall switchboard and used straight lines exclusively."

Automatic Shotgun Should Be Barred, Says Commissioner

J. Frank Rhodes, commissioner of game for Georgia, has endorsed the national campaign being waged against the automatic shotgun, he declared Thursday.

"The deadly weapon that wounds, slaughters and results in countless crippled birds being uncovered by hunters should be boycotted by true sportsmen," he states. "It is claimed that the rapidly disappearing supply of feathered game is largely caused by the use of the automatic shotgun. Unless the American people are willing to obey more faithfully the spirit of game laws, virtually all species of feathered game will become extinct."

DR. NOWELL PRAISES EMORY MEDICAL WORK

High praise for the record and service of Grady hospital for the past year was given Thursday by Dr. S. C. Nowell, representing the American College of Surgeons, who made an inspection of all Atlanta hospitals. He also paid tribute to the medical department of Emory university, and the Atlanta Graduate School of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Nowell, after complimenting the institution on its proposed out-door clinic building and the cancer hospital, which it is understood, is soon to be an annex of the Grady hospital, emphasizes the imperative need of a new and up-to-date maternity ward, where more efficient care can be given to expectant mothers and obstetrical cases.

Colored Unit.

In speaking of the value which the colored unit of the hospital derives from being under the immediate supervision of Emory university and the value which the white unit derives from being under the immediate management of the Atlanta Graduate School of Physicians and Surgeons, Dr. Nowell emphasized the advantages which have already come and which will become more apparent in future years in giving the teaching units of this institution to control the scientific program of the hospital and the professional care of the patients.

It is generally recognized, said he, that the best regulated hospitals are also teaching centers and that from them emanate great educational value. The theory of medicine can be gotten from books or demonstrated in laboratories, but the art of the practice of medicine must be taught at the bedside, he declared.

Hospital Great Teaching Unit.

The hospital, therefore, said Dr. Nowell, furnishes an opportunity for training and experience to the student, as well as to the graduate doctor, which value to him cannot be estimated. Thus, as a teaching unit, the staff is more perfectly fulfilling the prime purpose of the hospital and the welfare of the patient, for its members naturally give more careful attention to their patients when they realize that their efforts are exposed to the scrutiny of students and the criticism of the other members of the staff.

"The influence of these two medical institutions will not only improve and perfect the service rendered in Grady hospital, but will contribute greatly in making Atlanta permanently the medical center of the south," he declared.

Mary Mills Patrick, president of the Constantinople Women's college, heads an institution where no less than 20 different nationalities are represented, with Greeks predominating.

Art Exhibition Will Be Feature At Woman's Club

Forty-two paintings are included in the southern states art exhibition to be shown at the Woman's club next week under the auspices of the Atlanta Art association. This exhibition is one of two which the art association is sponsoring this spring.

Of particular interest to Atlantans is the colorful landscape, "Edge of the Woods," by Miss Virginia Woolley, local artist, at present on a sketching trip in California.

The eighth annual exhibition for Atlanta artists will be on display from May 21 to June 2 in the Woman's club gallery. Entries for this exhibition, which is restricted to artists living in Atlanta and suburbs, must be submitted to the jury on May 14 at the Woman's club building, between 10 and 5 o'clock and entry blanks and complete information can be secured from Mrs. Joseph B. Hosmer, chairman of art for the art association, who is in charge of both exhibitions. Artists who wish to exhibit can call Mrs. Hosmer at DeCATUR 1055.

DEWBERRY GROWERS OF STATE ORGANIZE

C. C. Child Appointed as Manager of Co-Operative Association.

Formation recently of another co-operative organization in the state to be known as the Georgia Dewberry Growers' association, which embraces virtually all counties where this product is grown, was announced Thursday by the state agriculture department.

George B. Lowe, prominent citizen of Baxley, was elected president; W. H. Born, of McRae, vice president; W. H. Stuckey, of Lumber City, secretary, and the following directors, Max L. McRae, of McRae; S. B. Meadows, Vidalia; J. R. O. Smith, Barlow; S. B. Blount, Vidalia; W. C. Pirkle, Baxley; J. T. Brooks, Lumber City; C. V. Clark and R. T. Ramsey, Louisville.

It is anticipated that the crop of dewberries this year will aggregate 10,000 crates of 32 quarts each, but is expected that by next year this total will be increased to at least 30,000 crates, or about 150 carloads. From present indications every dewberry grower of any consequence in the state will become a member of the association.

C. C. Child, widely known market expert of perishable farm products, who was appointed by the board as manager of the association, expressed enthusiasm regarding the outlook for marketing the dewberry crop this year, and strongly urges every grower in the state to become affiliated with the association.

TOO MUCH ADVICE HURTS AMERICAN AMATEUR GOLF

American Golf Team Captures St. George Cup

Francis Ouimet, of Boston, And Dr. Willing Are in Tie; Gardner Gets Third Place

Is First Time That Famous Trophy Has Been In Alien Hands Since Establishment—Play Off Tie Today.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sandwich, May 3.—The St. George's challenge cup, one of the most important golf trophies in England, has been captured by the American invaders, Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., and Francis Ouimet, of Boston, former American open champion, tied for first place in the two-day stroke competition which ended today, with aggregate scores of 153 each. They play eighteen holes tomorrow to decide the winner.

The American victory will put the St. George's cup in alien hands for the first time since its establishment 35 years ago. Actually the original cup, of solid gold and one of Britain's finest golf trophies, is not handed over, the winner getting a reproduction of it.

It was over the same links on which the Americans won their success today that Walter Hagen last year wrested the British open championship from a field of Britain's best. Gardner Gets Third Place.

Third place was captured by Robert A. Gardner, captain of the American team, this making the victory of the invaders still more overwhelming.

Just Sweeter, the American amateur champion, gave up at the seventeenth hole today. Sweeter took 81 for the first round yesterday, and was never able to get going in his usual style. He took 40 for the first nine on the second round.

Sweeter's approach shots were a little off the green most of the time and he cut his putts badly. Cyril Toller, the English star, who had a 79 yesterday, gave up at the twelfth hole today after taking 41 to the nine.

Ouimet's card over was three under his mark for the first nine holes yesterday. He had bad luck with several long putts which went to the rim but refused to fall in. On the fourth green he barely missed striking a 20-footer. His first shot of the day was on the seventh where his second shot with the wood carried 225 yards dead to the pin and he was down in 3. This hole measures 484 yards.

On the ninth Ouimet missed a two foot putt for a 3, and met with a similar fate on the tenth. He took 47-yard fifteenth his approach shot from just off the green lipped the cup, failing to roll in. On this hole, he made an effort to get his second shot to the green but failed by two yards. On the sixteenth the Boston star ran a 40-foot putt to within three inches of the hole and on the seventeenth he missed the cup. The worst mishap of all was on the eighteenth where he missed a short putt for a four.

Willings' card over was three under his mark for the first nine holes yesterday. He had bad luck with several long putts which went to the rim but refused to fall in. On the fourth green he barely missed striking a 20-footer. His first shot of the day was on the seventh where his second shot with the wood carried 225 yards dead to the pin and he was down in 3. This hole measures 484 yards.

On the ninth Ouimet missed a two foot putt for a 3, and met with a similar fate on the tenth. He took 47-yard fifteenth his approach shot from just off the green lipped the cup, failing to roll in. On this hole, he made an effort to get his second shot to the green but failed by two yards. On the sixteenth the Boston star ran a 40-foot putt to within three inches of the hole and on the seventeenth he missed the cup. The worst mishap of all was on the eighteenth where he missed a short putt for a four.

JONES TURNS IN GOOD CARD

Boston, Mass., May 3.—Bobby Jones had an individual card of 68 in the first four-ball tournament of the Massachusetts Golf association today on the links of the Wollaston Golf club. It was a competitive medal record for the amateur. He and his partner, Al Nelson, won the gross prize, but their score was in reality Jones' individual card.

AGGIES MAKE SHOW AT MEET

Monroe, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—The Fifth District A. & M. school was most creditably represented at the annual meet of the District A. & M. schools in Athens April 27 and 28, 1923.

As a result of the contests staged the Fifth won over the other eleven A. & M. schools by scoring majority of points. The exact number of points won by the Fifth A. & M. was 50, which entitled her to receive the grand prize banner. In the literary contest the Fifth won 24 points, which won the list, and gave her the literary banner.

The following students of the Fifth A. & M. won first places and also received gold medals:

Spelling—Pansy Tisiger.
Declamation—Hoke Wolford.
Art—Elizabeth Van Wagner.
Buttermaking—E. M. McGinnis.
Broad Jump—John Cheek.

Second Places.
The second places won by the Fifth were:

Music—Mary Lee Cochran.
Boys' Essay—Billie Thompson.
Girls' Essay—Elizabeth Van Wagner.
Buttermaking—Rosa Mae Bradley.
Poultry Judging—Lee Carter.
Stock Judging—Percie Elkins.
100 Yards Dash—John Cheek.
High Jump—Davette Hockersmith.

Third Places.
The Fifth won the following third places:

Cooking—Elizabeth Van Wagner.
Penmanship—Pansy Tisiger.
Stock Judging—Homer Rowe.
For the past seven years four banners have been awarded each year. The Fifth A. & M. lacks only one banner to complete the set of eight banners that have been given. The walls of the library have been covered with these handsome banners, but there is no longer space for all the banners in that room. So the collection of banners will now ornament the walls of the chapel. Four of these are grand prize banners, four are literary banners, four are industrial banners, and one athletic banner.

Since there are twelve District A. & M. schools competing and only four banners offered each year, each school would receive its share of banners in that room. So the matter stands, the Fifth A. & M. has won her share for thirty-nine years. But it is not reasonable to suppose that she will quit striving for more contests, or that she will not be successful for such a length of time.

N. C. A. A. AND A. A. U. SPLIT

New York, May 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—While Frederick Ruben, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union, was announcing tonight that Charles Paddock, California, sprinting star, had automatically disqualified himself as an amateur within the jurisdiction of the A. A. U. by participating today in an international students' track meet at Paris, Brigadier General F. E. Pierce, president of the National Collegiate Athletic association, issued a statement declaring that the N. C. A. A. had sanctioned Paddock's entry and could see no ground for objection to his action.

The rival statements, however, in the opinion of competent observers as the initial skirmish on an athletic war with international complications, precipitated by Paddock's defiance of the A. A. U., in the face of that body's determined opposition to foreign competition this year because of the proximity of the 1924 Olympic games, while on the other side are marshaled the collegiate athletic forces of both this country and Europe.

Meet Indorsed.
General Pierce's statement in which he declared that the Paris meet had been indorsed by the N. C. A. A. as part of a general program of athletic encouragement was the first definite indication that Paddock had the backing of American authorities in his venture. The student organization, under whose auspices the Californian appeared in Paris, yesterday declared its independence of other athletic governing bodies and announced a purpose to conduct a rival Olympic meet for the benefit of college performers. Whether a step of such radical nature has the support of the N. C. A. A. in this country was not indicated by General Pierce.

What action the board of governors will take, Mr. Ruben would not predict, saying that he would be taken up when Paddock returns. It was pointed out that should Paddock's suspension extend over next year, he would be ineligible to compete in the 1924 Olympics, but the Californian was quoted recently as saying this would be his last season on the cinderpaths.

Confers With Kilbane.
Cleveland, Ohio, May 3.—Tom O'Rourke, of New York, promoter of the Johnny Kilbane-Eugene Ciriqli, featherweight championship contest scheduled to be held in New York city June 2, visited Kilbane at his training quarters here today to discuss a match between Kilbane and Johnny Dundee after the Kilbane-Ciriqli bout, provided Kilbane wins. O'Rourke expressed himself as pleased with Kilbane's physical condition.

By CLIFF WHEATLEY

"Oh, well, let her rip," was the keynote of an address delivered last night by Lieutenant Holt J. Gwiner over one of the Southern Bell's choicest lines as he was advised by the pilot of this column that watching prize fighters and counting raindrops at the same time wasn't his (the pilot's) idea of a good time.

Lieutenant Gwiner, as most mortals know, is chairman of some sort of committee that is handling the Stribling-Carbone fight for the 108th cavalry troop, national guard. The other day when the match was first proposed, Gwiner argued that it looked too good to stage in an outdoor arena unless it was fully protected by rain insurance.

The committee was hard to convince. One honorable member dug back into those precious files maintained by C. F. Von Hermann, weather prognosticator, and announced that rain had fallen in Atlanta on past May thirds so rarely that putting up the insurance premium was simply tossing money out of the window.

GEWINER'S OBSTINANCY "PAID OFF."

But Gwiner is an obstinate cuss. He insisted that it might rain on Thursday night, May 3, 1923, even if it hadn't rained on that date since Tommy McMillan was being written up as "a young recruit seeking to find a foothold in the Southern league." Holt J. was sold on the proposition and carried his point. A policy for $500 was signed.

So we don't wonder there was no sorrow in his voice as he announced Stribling and Carbone must wait until tonight to settle their differences. Five hundred dollars is five hundred dollars and it is also a lot of money, if you see that amount as seldom as we do.

When the rain barrel at the weather bureau showed one-tenth inch precipitation last night, a certain insurance company reached for the checkbook and made out a voucher payable to the promoters. And it's all velvet, for just as many people—maybe more—will witness the encounter tonight. That's that for the wisdom of taking out rain insurance.

STRIBLING'S CHANCES HELPED BY REST.

The Stribling Board of Strategy went into executive session soon after it became known that the insurance company had lost the only fight that was staged Thursday night. At the head of the table sat "Pa" Stribling, who showed by his easy manner that he has occupied this same position at other sessions of the council. At his right was Mrs. Stribling and Young Stribling and "Baby" were taking notes on proceedings.

The big discussion was "school." Whether the two boys should return to Macon during the night in order to attend classes, or remain in Atlanta until the battle passes into ring history was the problem. Young Stribling declined to take much interest, for he has reached the age where he knows what education means for him, but "Baby" just naturally didn't hanker about going back home. "Baby" is still young, very young.

It was finally decided to permit the boys to stay in Atlanta. This means that Stribling will enter the ring tonight thoroughly rested from his train ride to the duelling ground and minus the ill effects that would have resulted had he been forced to endure still another daylight trip and Carbone has a job cut out that cannot be performed save by a master workman using all the tools.

Oglethorpe Will Meet Centre Colonels Today

Humphrey Will Probably Work on the Mound for the Petrels—Covington Is Star.

BY BILL MORROW.
The climax of the Centre baseball team's invasion of the lower part of the "Sunny South" will be reached this afternoon when the Colonels meet the Oglethorpe Petrels on Hernando field, in the first of a two-game series scheduled for that locality. The game is scheduled to start promptly at 3:15 o'clock with the postcards selling at fifty cents each. Adequate bleachers have been built on the Petrel's newly enclosed diamond to seat comfortably the spectators wishing to witness the game in action.

Mark Humphrey will be Coach Anderson's pick to do the hurling act for the Petrels in the attempt to chalk a win over Vic Moran's successful travelers and with this veteran in the boy there is little likelihood of a walkaway by the lads from the Blue Grass state. Humphrey has had trouble with his pitching arm but this member has improved under careful treatment and judging from the fact he retired the V. P. I. batters in the Petrel's last encounter, Oglethorpe followers have every right to look forward to a great exhibition by this veteran.

Trips are Successful.
Centre excursions through the south have met with unusual success and their recent victories bear out the statement that the Colonels are out to win recognition on the diamond as well as in uniform. Ed Davis's national football players are on the Centre squad, the best-known being "Flash" Covington, who's escapades on the gridiron have brought him national recognition. Covington covers the second sack for the Colonels and it is reported that his work in the Kentucky infield is very brilliant.

Following the Centre series the Petrels will go to Athens for a two-game series on May 7 and 8 with the Georgia Bulldogs and then return to their own campus to meet Kentucky on May 9 and 10. Another double series with the Camp Benning officers will complete the Petrel's eight straight working days, the final games being played in Columbus.

Oglethorpe will present its regular lineup with the exception of J. Part ridge who was injured early in the season and has not been able to report in uniform. Ed Davis's A. back at first, Hafele will be shifted to second to fill the breach made by Partridge's loss to the team; Maurer, regular shortstop, will be at his customary position and Wall will account for the final infield berth. The regular outfield of Kemp, Morris and Parrish will care for the garden territory.

NUGRAPE TO PLAY TODAY

BY M. D. GLEASON.
LaGrange, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—Coach T. D. White, director of athletics of the LaGrange High school announces that he has picked a 'tall team from 'Troup county to play the NuGrape team, of Atlanta, here tomorrow.

Coach White states he will have Konekman, former Atlanta player and Swedenberg, the famous Gleason all-star, as his pitchers, with Hall, short stop, Teat in the outfield and the best men selected from among the several good mill teams around LaGrange on his team.

Everybody around LaGrange believes that the NuGrape hasn't a chance to win and the bets are two to one on the local team.

The players on the NuGrape team say, however, that if the LaGrange team beats them the fans will get a good run for their money as everybody at the city park here will know they saw a ball game when it is all over.

The NuGrape team comes here as the guests of Mr. Taylor the local NuGrape bottler.

ARCHITECTS PLAY TODAY

The golf tournament for the Atlanta architects will be held at East Lake today, beginning at 1:45 o'clock and the putting contest for the architects who do not play golf will be at 5 o'clock. The barbecue will begin at 6 o'clock.

Twenty-six architects have entered and it will be an eighteen hole, medal play tournament, with handicaps applying. W. J. Chase, R. D. Burge and E. W. Beacham form the handicapping committee.

There will be about fifty-five architects at the barbecue, including the ones who will play.

The big cup will become the permanent property of the first one who wins it three times, not necessarily in succession.

It is the plan to have this tournament and barbecue an annual affair, and this is the first one.

The entries are G. Hall Gibson, M. C. Kollock, Jr., W. A. Price, C. B. Smith, A. H. Baxter, R. A. Belcher, G. G. Scofield, J. G. Wilburn, H. A. Spies, G. M. Bullard, C. W. Brown, F. D. Burge, P. S. Stevens, W. J. Chase, E. W. Beacham, J. E. Downington, C. E. Frazier, Dan Bodine, E. C. Wachendorf, C. E. Chate, Alfredo Barilli, A. T. E. Brown, W. C. Powell, Ray Jordan, R. K. Perry, O. J. Southwell, L. R. Levey, J. T. Mitchell, W. E. Conklin.

Lewis Defends Title

Kansas City, Mo., May 3.—Ed ("Strangler") Lewis successfully defended his title as world's champion heavyweight wrestler here last night by defeating John Pesek, of Nebraska, in straight falls. Both falls were obtained by toe holds, the first in one hour and two minutes and the second in two minutes and thirty seconds. A crowd estimated at nearly 15,000 saw the match.

Hagen Declares Invaders Are on Par With Players Defending British Title

Easy for Too Much Advice to Be Given Americans Concerning What to Do or What Not to While in England.

BY WALTER HAGEN.
(British Open Champion.)

The American amateurs have had plenty of practice over the Deal links by conditions quickly. If one will know Deal, it is the hardest golf course to get acquainted with I ever knew. When Jim Barnes and I played there three years ago we had our troubles. Jim's remark was characteristic of the course when he said: "I have played a half-dozen rounds over the links now and we are still strangers. I might play a dozen more rounds and still feel the same way about this course."

It has always been my contention that a good golfer can adapt himself to conditions quickly. If one has a variety of shots he will find some of them suited to a seaside course. Sandwich, which is just next door, was more friendly to us and we solved the problems there much quicker than we did at Deal.

Our American team, I am sure, is on a par with any ten men in Great Britain and I think the team match to be played later at St. Andrews will prove this. Therefore, if they are to be beaten at Deal when each man is out for himself, it will be on account of the overwhelming numbers against our boys.

I am afraid some of the team will be killed off by too much advice. This is likely to happen to the youngsters or some of the less experienced who not only get an ear full every time they care to stop and listen but go out seeking information.

And Worries British.
One wants to keep this in mind. The British golfers are going to have plenty of trouble at Deal if the wind is not always playing on the seaside links. Most of the players live inland and have had no more experience than our own players.

When golfers are handed too much advice they are apt to play much worse than if they had no list of "don'ts" to worry about. It is a strange fact that some of our greatest stars have made a worse showing abroad than some of our lesser lights. Bobby Jones, Chick Evans, Jerry Travers, Francis Ouimet and Jesse Guilford went over loaded down with instructions and friendly advice. Much was expected from them but history records the fact that they never got very far in the championship.

On the other hand there has been some surprises. W. J. Travis won the title there 19 years ago, but he was not given an outside chance to win either here or abroad and there were few to tell him what to do and what not to do. There was no particular strain on him and he won. Later on Heinie Schmidt went over with few knowing that he was on the other side. He had never done much here and was not taken seriously as a strong contender. He went to the semi-finals at St. Andrews and it took one of England's best, H. H. Hilton, two extra holes to beat him.

Bob Gardner was never considered quite in the class with Jones, Evans, Ouimet and Travers and when he was at Muirfield in 1920 he was not considered very dangerous. He was quoted at 25 to 1 in the betting in Benny Sayers' book and some of our Americans did not jump to take advantage of these odds. Another case is that of Freddie Wright who lasted longer than any of his team mates in the championship at Hoylake two years ago. Freddie is a good golfer, but of all, he was least expected to make good.

"Dark Horse." Maybe.
It may be some of the less known numbers of the team who will rise to the greatest heights this year. Little is known of Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland. I have had the pleasure of playing with him several times and found him to be a first-class golfer, much better than I had expected. He hits a long low ball and it travels a long way. He is pretty sure to be straight down the course also. The doctor has a keen eye. While on the coast last fall I went on a hunting trip with him and he bagged most of the game, and I had fancied myself a good shot, too. He is a first-class putter and this will count at Deal more than anything else.

George Roten, of Texas, is another that will bear watching. It would not surprise me to see him go a very long way in this tournament. He is a very long driver and plays his iron shots well. Roten has much tournament experience, although he has never won any big title.

Harrison Johnston needs no introduction. He is one of the youngsters and a very capable golfer. He has played in two of our championships and has done well. His game is sound in every way and he possesses plenty of courage. It might be his year to do something big. The same might be said of Dave Herron, who won our title at Oakland three years ago. Dave has a fine game and I don't believe he would have gone over if he had not been playing well.

Max Marston has threatened to win our title more than once. He had a fine chance at Detroit in 1913. Bob Gardner had considered himself beaten and all that Marston had to do was to hold an 18-inch putt at the seventeenth. This would have given him the match, but he missed and then Gardner won the next hole, squaring matters, and won the first extra hole and in the next round beat Johnnie Anderson for the title.

JIL-BETT

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

More than ever, it had been on the point of seeking Jil-Bett to talk the matter over with her, but the remembrance that she knew nothing save pearl-diving caused him to turn back and try to work out the problem by himself.

Jil-Bett had come to the stewardess's stateroom earlier than usual, to talk over some of the things she had been reading about.

"You are coming in, just as your husband went out in search of you," she commented.

"Is he looking for me?" exclaimed Jil-Bett, the color rushing into her cheeks, her eyes brightening. "I will go back at once. I hope I will not miss him."

Jil-Bett found Jack standing by her stateroom chair, the book in his hand. The frown on his face showed her he was not pleased with it; while she had thought it was very wonderful she meant to study it until she knew it by heart, so enthralling was it.

"Sit down, Jil-Bett, I want to talk to you," he said. Sitting there, he appeared her curiosity as to what had taken him into the water; seeing the Arab, the night before, deposit the box there, and the overwhelming desire to learn its contents. The hope in his heart that it might have something to do with her grandfather's loss.

"We both had the same thought," cried Jil-Bett eagerly.

At that instant he caught sight of the box at her feet.

"No, I waited until we could look it over together, dear. Like you, I could not banish the hope it might contain what my grandfather lost."

As Jack raised the leaden box placing it in Jil-Bett's lap, remarking on its great weight for its size, a sudden commotion was raised on that side of the deck. In an instant it was crowded by passengers and crew. They had sighted an American steamer, which would soon pass them on her way to the Katat port.

Jack took the box from her. "We shall have to defer opening it until later on," he said, laying it down on the stateroom chair from which he had just arisen. "Come, we will stay to the rail and look at the boat."

Two of the sailors made way for them.

"It is a wonderful sight to see an advancing vessel out on the wide ocean," he murmured, watching her thoughtfully.

The moon was at its full, rendering each object as clear to the view as at noonday. The approaching ship was an unusually large one. The myriads of lights that flashed from her were brighter by far than the stars that gleamed in the heavens overhead.

Their steamer saluted, the on-coming one answered. They passed so near each other that the faces of the passengers on both decks were plainly distinguishable. Jil-Bett had been watching anxiously; then suddenly her face grew white to the lips. The cry that welled up from her heart died unuttered on her lips. Her strained, terrified gaze was riveted upon a man standing at the rail of the other boat.

He was taller by half a head than the other passengers. He wore a broad, light felt hat with a black and white band around it, and a striped tie, whose long ends fluttered in the breeze. He was close-shaven, with sharp, dark eyes, whose piercing gaze was riveted upon Jil-Bett.

The moment her gaze had rested upon him, Jil-Bett recognized him from the minute description her grandfather had given of him as the American agent who had left the jewel with him. Within the hour he would land in Katat, discover that had happened, then search would be instituted for the jewel.

A sudden faintness seized Jil-Bett, Jack noticed it, helping her back to her stateroom chair.

"I will get you a glass of wine," he said.

"No, no!" returned Jil-Bett, "not for worlds would I take anything that stupefies the brain. I would like a glass of water."

He brought it to her hurriedly, she took a long draught of it. He wondered at the shudder that passed through her slender frame.

"Don't you think you had better go to your stateroom, Jil-Bett?" he queried. "You are very pale, even to the lips."

She shook her head. "I should like you to sit with me here, if you will, then we will examine the contents of the box."

"Would you mind if I went down to the lower deck for a smoke? I will come to you later."

"I will wait for you here," she replied.

After he had gone Jil-Bett gave full vent to the tears she had striven so earnestly to suppress in his presence. He knew she needed him, but he had not cared to remain where she was. The little book she had been reading emphasized the sentence: "Indifference and love are never found together in the heart, for the one—the stronger—always crowds the other out, taking full possession."

That was it, Jack was indifferent.

to her. On the next page she had read: "It is easier to move a mountain than to change indifference to love."

She realized with sorrow that was most pitiful that her marriage, to him was not of his choosing, and that he had been inadvertently lured into the yoke.

The great fear was taking possession of her that he was gradually learning to love her.

The hours dragged on. The full moon mounted higher and higher in the star-gemmed sky, yet he did not return. She heard the ship's bells each time they tolled the passing of time; the deck on which she sat was, by this time, well nigh deserted.

"Jack has forgotten he had an appointment with me here," she sobbed. With all of a woman's patience, she decided to wait a half-hour longer, if, in the meantime, the stewardess did not come in search of her. She had been so generous in sharing her stateroom with her, Jil-Bett could not feel justified in causing her annoyance by not retiring when she did.

Jil-Bett had been quite right; the tall man on the passing steamer was Staples. She was also correct in her conjecture that he would seek her grandfather at once upon landing.

It was exactly what Staples proceeded to do. The house was in darkness, which looked as if the old man had retired. His impudence to view the result of the aged lapidary's work was so great, he could not wait until morning, therefore he knocked loudly upon the door. Again and again he knocked; there was no response.

The sound of the knocking brought Mudge, next door, to his window. When he saw the tall spare figure standing at the Rannock door, he recognized him at once as the stranger whom he had directed to that house several weeks before.

"I am anxious to see the lapidary, with whom I have important business," exclaimed Staples, adding: "He must be a very sound sleeper; I have knocked loud enough to awaken the dead."

"The dead cannot awaken, sir; the hand of man can never disturb one in his last sleep, as is Daniel Rannock."

Staples drew back in alarm. "Are you trying to tell me the old lapidary is dead?" he asked sharply.

"That is what has happened, sir; the old man passed away quite a week ago."

Staples leaned heavily against the door frame.

"The granddaughter, where is she? I must see her at once; it is evident she is not within; where can I find her?"

"You will not be able to see her, sir; Jil-Bett is no longer in Katat."

"Gone away? Where to?" cried Staples, fully repressing his deep agitation.

When Hearts Command

BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

Brighter and brighter grew the eastern sky, and poor Jean panted and plodded up and up through the endless terraces, not even pausing for a moment's rest at the little chapel.

In the gloom of the dawn Jack figures bent silently over the long rows of stocks and carnations, gathering produce for the flower market. Now and again a laden mule came slipping and clattering down the path, attended by a peasant boy or woman. Jean exchanged greetings with the beasts' guardians, who showed no surprise at seeing an English lady abroad so early and alone.

Now the sun came up, beating her by a good half hour. For the last lap she found a short cut, a steep, muddy path that sorely taxed her strength and soiled her skirt and shoes with red earth. Above her she could see the farm house, silhouetted against the blazing gold of the sunrise, and

THE GUMPS-SAY IT WITH LAUGHS

Hector Gaunt himself, working with a couple of men and his old woman on one of the lower terraces. She called out to him and was answered first by his dog. Then he dropped the tool he carried and came rushing down to meet her.

"Jean, what does this mean? Why didn't you send for me? I would have come. I was waiting for you to send for me."

Jean began to cry. Little weak wimpers, like a distressed child at the sight of its mother, and Gaunt lifted her bodily in his arms.

"There, my dear—my poor dear. Don't wriggle, please. Maria!" He called to the old woman and bade her make some fresh coffee. The workmen stared with unsmiling eyes at the sight of their master carrying a white clad signora in his arms, and the old dog sniffed along behind, wagging his stiff, rheumatic tail.

Jean's arms were around Gaunt's neck. She could not well help herself, but it was a comforting position, and she became more and more conscious of her utterly disheveled appearance. Her hair was straggling about her ears, there was a smudge of red clay across one cheek furrowed with tear stains, her skirts were all crumpled.

Hector Gaunt tended her with a paternal solicitude. He dried her feet himself, and pulled on the clumsy socks, setting her own shoes and stockings to dry before the fire. He took off her hat and mopped her face, and finally gave her a bowl of steaming coffee.

Meanwhile Maria was being admonished as to breakfast.

"O, I couldn't eat a thing! I must start back almost at once. Please don't have anything cooked on my account," Jean implored him.

But Gaunt assured her that it was not wholly on her account. Working on the land since four o'clock, he was quite ready, he said, to indulge in something more substantial than a continental breakfast. Only, they must eat here in the kitchen. The dining room was as cold as a tomb until the sun got into it.

He cooked the bacon and eggs himself, while Maria laid a corner of her well scrubbed table with a checked cloth, blue and white, and brought a loaf, a pot of honey, and little pink jug of cream.

Jean sank into a blissful state of expectancy. For all she had, propped, the smell and sight of the food made her hungry. The kitchen, with its string of onions and dried peppers hanging from the rafters, and the wide open hearth, where a few olive wood logs crackled, was a pleasant, homely place. Gaunt fried the eggs and bacon over a charcoal brazier. He was so tall he had to dodge the string of onions when he straightened up. Some hens came pecking and cackling into the doorway, curious about the visitor, and Maria shooed them away with raucous reproach for such familiarity.

"Now we will eat," said Gaunt. "No—sit still. I'll pull you up to the table."

He dragged her, chair and all, across the roughly paved floor, and Maria, being assured that nothing more was required, went back to her work on the terraces.

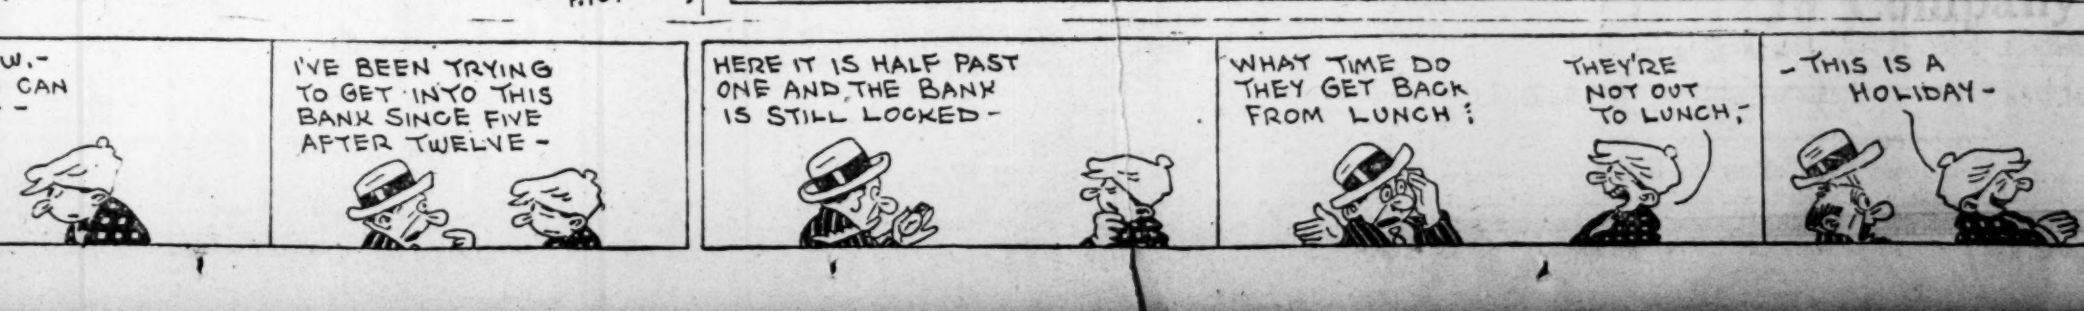

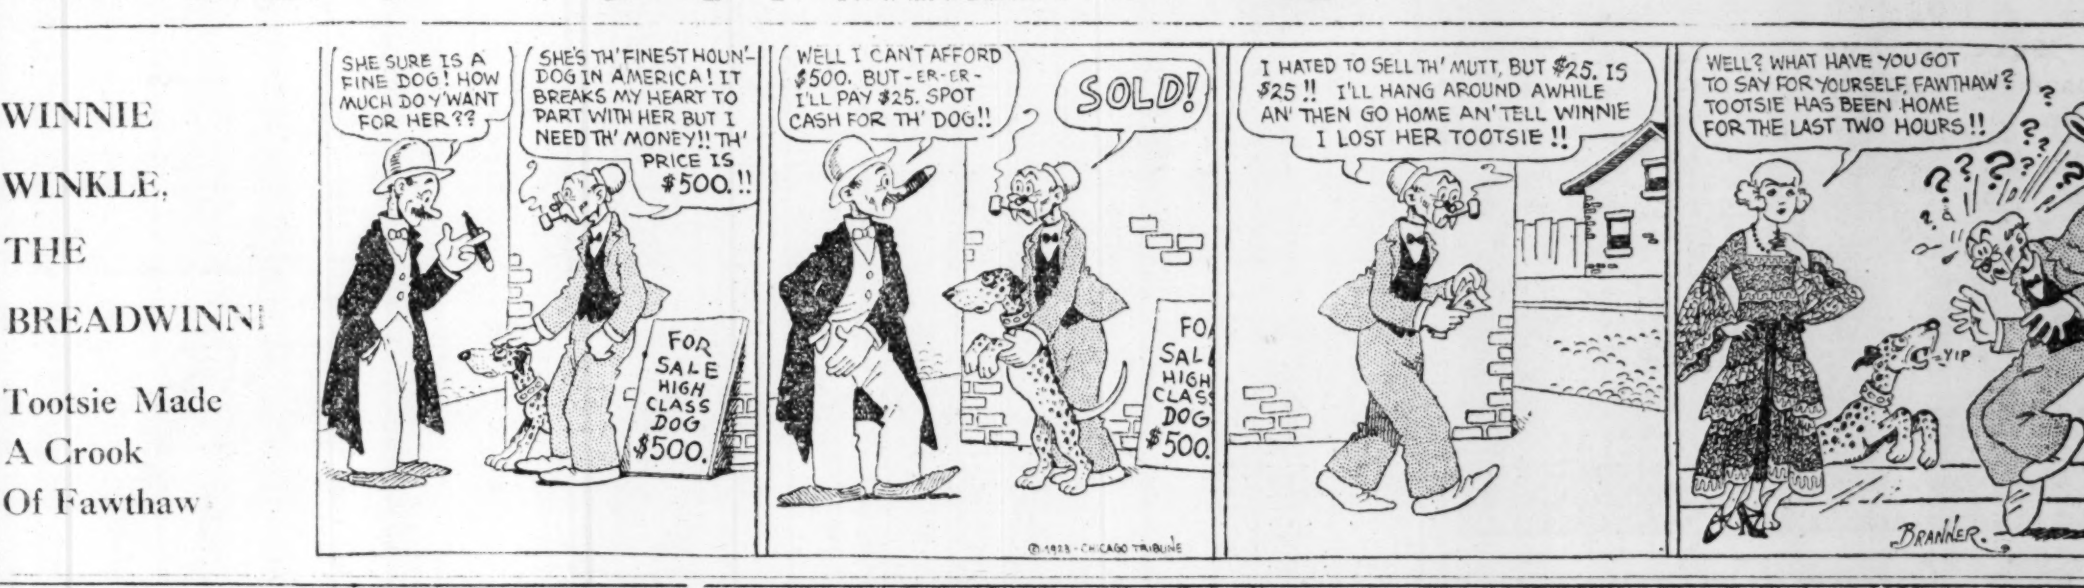

Then Jean unbent her unhappy soul. It was mainly on the subject of yesterday's most unexpected meeting with Carrie Egan, the widow of the man Hugo—"Well, you know who I mean. She's staying in Bordighera, Hector—at the Mimosa Palace. And what am I to do? She's a friend of Dr. Ardenne's. O, Hector, I'm almost out of my mind."

"Did she recognize you?" Gaunt asked.

"I don't know. I can't be sure. Yet it seems as though she must have."

"What are afraid of?" Jean crimsoned and her eyes over-

New York, May 3.—Yesterday's rallies were followed by a severe break in the cotton market today with prices for old crop months making new low ground for the present movement. July sold off to 25.00, or 81 points below yesterday's closing quotation, and more than 5 cents a pound below the high record of last March.

New crop months were relatively steady but were pulled down by the near month weakness, with October declining to 27.75 or 37 points net lower and the general market closed easy 20 to 82 points net lower.

There were some over night buying orders at the opening and first prices were steady at declines of 2 to 15 points. The demand seemed to be quickly supplied, however, and the market became weak and unsettled. The relatively easy ruling of Liverpool was a factor which was felt in the shape of Liverpool selling orders here, and sentiment regarding export trade prospects generally appeared to be influenced by the easier ruling of foreign exchange and reports that France had rejected Germany's reparations offer. These features probably were responsible for some of the selling and the offerings became more general and urgent later on, with rumors that Carolina mills consider the question of curtailment, and reports that some mills were offering raw cotton for sale. Many advices were received here denying that there was any talk of short time among the Carolina mills, but local traders seemed apprehensive that the reported falling off in the demand for goods would lead to some reduction in mill activity as suggested by the reports of curtailment in Fall River. The more favorable average of the weather news also was a factor on the decline of the market. May contracts off to 26.85, making net losses of 82 to 84 points on the old crop months while the new crop sold 20 to 37 points net lower.

There were 18 May notices issued today which seemed to contribute to the near month weakness. Port receipts today 5,900. U. S. port stocks, 143,703. Exports 3,100, making 4,273,810 so far this season.

COTTON IS OFF AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, May 3.—Better weather and crop accounts from the western part of the belt and less satisfactory reports from mill centers were responsible for a selling movement in cotton today which started on the opening and was still under way, in the old crop, in the late trading. In the second half of the session irregularities were most pronounced, July being under severe pressure at times, with the result that differences between old and new crop positions were decidedly narrowed. The late trading saw July down to 25.47, while the close on July was at 25.50 with the list at net losses on the day of 20 to 79 points. October traded as low as 23.16 and closed at 23.25.

The western belt was fairly dry and from points here and there came reports that planting was nearing completion. The eastern belt was wet but this brought the market little support. The outlook was for continued dry weather in the west and continued showery weather in the east.

Rumors that France had rejected the German reparations offer were back of some of the early selling, which seemed to be just about 20 to 40 points, but later on the trade gave its consideration mainly to weather and mill news. Reports to brokers here that some southern mills were considering short time had a marked adverse effect on opinion and for a while much was made of a message from Dallas to a local brokerage concern, stating that a spot house was offering raw cotton for sale from a Texas cotton mill. Another report had a Mississippi mill offering spot cotton here but this lost its effect when it was explained that this mill was not trying to reduce stocks of raw cotton but was merely selling one character of cotton in order to replace with cotton of another character. At the lowest of the day prices were down 37 to 82 points under the finals of yesterday.

RAIL WORKER STABBED IN MIDNIGHT FIGHT

P. F. Huffman Cut in Jaw and Arm—Opponent Disappears

P. F. Huffman, of 92 Luckie street, was carried to Grady hospital at 12:30 o'clock this morning stabbed in the jaw and left arm, following a quarrel with Charlie Bastin, of West End, in the A. B. & A. railway yards on Ashby street. He was in a serious condition, hospital attaches reported.

Huffman was barely able to tell the police of the affair. It seemed that he and Bastin, both employed in the yards, quarreled over some work. They started a fist fight, but knives were soon resorted to. Bastin could not be located by the investigating officers following a search of the neighborhood in which he lives.

Some people are so prudish that they shudder at the naked truth.

"A Tailor-Made Man"

(At the Forsyth)

It would have been impossible to select a better vehicle for John Little's re-appearance at the Forsyth than "A Tailor-Made Man," the Co-ho and Harris comedy-drama being presented this week. Packed houses have applauded to the echo and laughter with unrestrained heartiness.

The big interest of Forsyth patrons for the week has been John Little. That is true if applause is still a reliable indication of interest. This play gives Little every chance he needs to show that his voice is back to old-time form and that he has lost none of the talent and technique that have made his work effective here through many successful months.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

Those who like singing, dancing, piano selections and little local comedies will find the show for the last half of the week at the Lyric theater full of the week.

Combe & Nevin rolled a piano out on the stage and proceeded to stop the show. There is not such a wonderful piano player, and better voices have been heard in Atlanta, but the line of songs are fun-up and the Thursday matinee audience was right with them to the finish.

Kavanaugh & Everett bring a dancing act that is well up in front of any act of this kind presented this season.

The bill is opened by Cornell, Leona & Zippy, who are looked as "Variety" and they have it. They dance, sing and then introduce Zippy, a high school dog, who entertains with rare tricks.

Robert Reilly company offer a pleasing playlet, "Irish Romance," a clever younger gets many laughs with his juvenile comedy.

Offering a skit named "Pills," Arnold & Hartley present an entirely new idea. Telling new jokes and singing good songs.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At Loew's Grand.)

Sascha Pastor and Natalie, celebrated international dancers, with their original dance creations are the headliners on the vaudeville bill at Loew's Grand for the last half of the week and range of a dancing act been seen on that stage that compares with it. They are presenting

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO KAMELIA SERVICE

Principles of Order Will Be Outlined at Meeting on Sunday.

The memorial service to be conducted by the Kamelia for Miss Emma Sanson, Confederate heroine, at the Auditorium next Sunday afternoon, will be open to the public, according to announcement Thursday.

One of the principal addresses will be delivered by Colonel William Joseph Simmons, commander of the Ku Klux Klan and ex-magus of the Kamelia. Dr. W. E. Thompson, who served as special commissioner to the Balkans during the world war, will participate.

Miss Sanson, in whose honor the program is arranged, is said to have guided the cavalry of General Nathan Bedford Forrest to victory at Black Creek, Ala., during a very critical moment. The local court of the Kamelia has been named in her honor.

ATTITUDE STATED ON USE OF DRUGS

U. S. to Take Stand Narcotics Be Used for Medicinal and Scientific Purposes Only.

Washington, May 3.—The United States will take the position at the meeting this month of the opium advisory committee of the league of nations at Geneva, Secretary Hughes declared in an address tonight before the National Narcotic conference assembled here by Rexford L. Holmes, a Washington church worker, that the use of narcotic drugs for other than medicinal and scientific purposes is illegitimate.

Curtailed of the production of opium and cocaine in line with the resolution adopted by congress at the last session called upon the president to urge such restrictions upon foreign governments. Mr. Hughes added, also would be advocated by the American delegation which has been appointed to represent the United States government at the Geneva meeting in a "consultative" capacity.

"The policy of the United States in regard to traffic in narcotic drugs is unmistakable," Mr. Hughes declared. "It is to restrict the traffic in domestic distribution to medicinal and scientific uses. The laws on this subject are administered by the treasury department. The department of state is concerned with the traffic in foreign as it is affected by our relations with foreign powers. In this respect, too, our policy is well defined."

Mr. Hughes then referred to the Hague opium convention of 1912, to which the United States is a party and which was entered into with several countries to control the international traffic in opium, cocaine and their derivatives.

"It had been the consistent policy of the United States," he continued, "to adhere to the principles of this treaty and to urge upon other nations the advisability of adhering to it and of enacting legislation which will carry out its provisions."

METHODIST BISHOP NOT OFFICIALLY SENT TO MOSCOW

New York, May 3.—Bishop Edgar Blake, of the American Methodist Episcopal church, who spoke before the all-Russian church convocation at Moscow yesterday, was present there as a unofficial observer. It was stated at the offices of the board of foreign missions of the church today.

Bishop Blake, it was said, was stationed in Paris in charge of the Methodist church work in southern Europe and had gone to Russia to attend the convocation on his own initiative in company with Dr. L. O. Hartman, editor of the Zion's Herald. Bishop John L. Nielsen, of Zurich, who has charge of the work of the church in Russia, was not at the convocation, it was stated.

Bishop Blake's presence at the Moscow convocation did not commit the Methodist Episcopal church to any of the aims or purposes of the convocation, it was said.

JOHNSON FAVORS CHAIR TO REPLACE HANGING IN STATE

Cumming, Ga., May 3.—A bill abolishing hanging in the state and substituting the electric chair is favored by J. L. Johnson, representative of Forsyth county, according to a statement issued today by Mr. Johnson.

LANIER LOSES ALIMONY SUIT IN MACON COURT

Macon, Ga., May 3.—Mrs. Peggy Lewis Lanier, of Atlanta, was awarded $40 a month alimony in her suit against Sidney Lanier, of Macon, according to announcement in the superior court this morning when a sealed verdict returned last night was opened and read.

It is announced that Lanier is to pay the alimony permanently unless Mrs. Lanier marries another. In that event the payments will stop.

Before the case went to the jury yesterday afternoon Dr. T. E. Blackshear and G. P. Goslin testified that Lanier was able to do some work. Dr. Goslin is the family physician, he said.

In superior court yesterday afternoon Judge Mathews displaced the $50,000 suit for alienation of affection instituted against Dr. J. D. Lanier by Mrs. Peggy Lewis Lanier on the plea of Dr. Lanier that he was ill.

Young Lanier and Mrs. Lanier were married in Atlanta at midnight, November 5, 1922, and Lanier returned to Macon the next day. He claims that he and Mrs. Lanier never lived together as man and wife and that he was under the influence of whisky when he married. A few weeks later Judge Mathews granted Mrs. Lanier temporary alimony.
